Kremlin Considers West's Concessions On Outer Space Plan

Makeup Of Study Group Apparently Major Obstacle

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and 19 other nations offered the Soviet Union Thursday some concessions they hope will lead to unanimous U.N. agreement on exploration of outer space for peaceful purposes.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge discussed the concessions with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin in an hour-long conference. Zorin forwarded them to the Kremlin.

The major obstacle to East-West agreement appeared to be over the makeup of a study group that would draw up recommendations for a permanent U.N. committee on outer space.

Parity Demand Opposed

The United States firmly opposed Soviet demands for East-West parity in the group. The United States was described as adamant against splitting the group into two power blocs.

Zorin told a reporter he also was hopeful that agreement would be reached. He said it was too early to comment on whether progress had been made, and that the discussion with Lodge was of a preliminary nature.

Lodge met with representatives of 19 other nations who have joined the United States in sponsoring a resolution on international cooperation in exploration of outer space.

Soviet Proposal Considered

They considered a new Soviet proposal for creation of an 11-nation study group to lay the groundwork for a permanent international committee for cooperation in the study of outer space under U.N. auspices.

The 20-nation meeting accepted in principle the creation of a permanent committee on outer space, but said the membership of the study group should be left open to negotiation. On the question of a permament committee the 20-nation body accepted the exact language of the Soviet proposal.

Federal Judge Blocks Merger Of Steel Giants

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge blocked Thursday the proposed merger of two giants of the steel industry, Bethlehem Steel Corp., and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. He thus thwarted the biggest deal of its kind in the nation's business history.

U.S. District Judge Edward Weinfield ruled the 2½-million-dollar merger—in which Bethlehem would take over the smaller firm—would be in clear violation of federal antitrust laws and would invite a rash of similar mergers in the industry.

He said it would result in an eventual narrowing of competition in the industry to three massive steel producing firms, a "triopoly."

Weinfeld added: "To say that the elimination of Youngstown would not result in a 'significant reduction in the vigor of competition' in the steel industry is to disregard experience. No financial stringency, past or threatened, justifies its absorption by Bethlehem."

A court decision of such sweeping significance to the nation's economy presumably will be appealed, although neither Bethlehem nor Youngstown committed themselves immediately.

Initial comment from Bethlehem was to the effect that Judge Weinfeld's interpretation of the anti-trust laws would substantially retard the competitive growth of American industry.

The decision immediately knocked both stocks down on the market. Youngstown initially dropped nearly four points and Bethlehem about a point.

The stocks rallied, however, and Bethlehem closed at 50, down ½, while Youngstown closed at 111¼, down 1¾.

Wendell Corey Stricken

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Wendell Corey, 40, collapsed while making a television program Thursday after suffering severe chest and abdominal pains.

He was taken to St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica, where his doctor, Jerome V. Treusch, said he was in serious condition.

UAW-Kohler Case Reopened

WASHINGTON (AP)—The long and bitter dispute between the United Auto Workers Union and the Kohler Co. in Wisconsin is being reopened for the taking of more evidence.

The National Labor Relations Board Thursday announced the reopening and assigned examiner George A. Downing to hold new hearings at a time to be set by the NLRB's Chicago office.

Downing held 112 days of hearings on the case last year.

Both the union and the company, a plumbing wares manufacturer, had requested further hearings, on the basis of testimony on the case last February and March to the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

In the Senate hearings, President Walter Reuther of the UAW acknowledged there had been some improper mass picketing and violence, but contended the company had provoked it with illegal conduct.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Thursday night a proposal to install a new $3,024 water-pumping system in President Eisenhower's private plane apparently has been shelved.

Racket Probe Urges Ban On "Hot Cargo" Clauses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate rackets investigators called on Congress Thursday to curb the Teamster Union's "massive powers to grind down" employers by outlawing "hot cargo" clauses in labor contracts.

Acting Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.) made the suggestion as the rackets committee ended its investigation of secondary boycotts with a denunciation of Teamster "terrorism and violence."

Investigators also charged that legal red tape in federal courts and the National Labor Relations Board is strangling small firms in drawn-out labor disputes.

In summing up the hearings, Ervin said "it seems difficult for the committee to venture into any field of wrongdoing in labor-management relations without running head-on into the Teamsters Union."

Ervin adjourned the committee hearings until early next month after reading his statement.

Earlier, the investigators heard NLRB Chairman Boyd Leedom explain why it took his agency three months to count seven votes in a representation election at the now-defunct Coffey Transfer Co. of Alma, Neb.

Leedom said the Teamsters used a legal "squeeze play" to drive the firm out of business after the owner refused to sign his truckers into the union. Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy replied that the delay was "just incredible."

Leedom and his aides told the committee that the Teamsters were able to tie up the Coffey case by obtaining two court orders blocking NLRB action after the election.

Red Opposition Eases Slightly At Geneva Talks

GENEVA (UPI)—A slight easing of the Soviet opposition Thursday kept Western hopes alive for some progress in the deadlocked talks on prevention of surprise attacks and a ban on nuclear weapons tests.

At the surprise attacks conference, the Communist bloc indicated willingness to discuss controls for specific measures to prevent such attacks. While the offer was a limited one, it at least indicated that the Communists would move from procedural arguments to concrete discussions of the business at hand.

In the parallel talks on suspension of nuclear weapons tests, the United States and British delegations proposed at a secret session to bypass the deadlocked agenda and get down to cases on a controlled nuclear test-ban.

Conference sources said the Soviets were non-committal on the Western nuclear proposal, but the fact that they did not reject it outright offered faint hope that full-dress negotiations could begin.

Western sources warned against optimism, however. They pointed out that the mere opening of full-dress negotiations at either conference did not guarantee any progress toward agreement or change in the Communist position.

Czechoslovakia's delegate to the conference on surprise attacks said the East was willing to discuss controls against surprise attacks, but only for specific measures. This was interpreted to mean that any Soviet control system would have to be limited in scope and nature.

Gasoline Barges Explode On Ohio

ROSICLAIRE, Ill. (UPI)—Three barges loaded with 90,000 barrels of high octane gasoline exploded with a fiery roar on the Ohio River Thursday night. One man was believed killed.

The first blast occurred on the lead barge of a string of three being pushed downstream by the towboat Barbara Lee, owned by Gulf Transportation Co.

The explosion set off a wild chain reaction of explosions on the other barges. The fiery blasts continued as the barges floated down the darkened river.

Soviet Takes First Step In Ouster Drive

Russ Envoy Serves Notice On Adenauer But Details Secret

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet Union took the first step Thursday to fold up four-power occupation of this former German capital, thus defying Western determination to hold on in West Berlin.

Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov called on Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Bonn and served notice of "steps which the Soviet government intends to take to realize the liquidation of the occupation status of Berlin."

West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt immediately told his 2,200,000 citizens to stand fast before coming hardships. Brandt declared the United States, Britain and France had pledged without reservation to defend the city.

The crisis-tested West Berliners braced for anything from an acute war of nerves to another blockade.

Details of the surprise Smirnov-Adenauer meeting were secret, but the Soviet Union already has disclosed how it proposes to put the squeeze on the Americans, British and French in West Berlin.

Grave Crisis Anticipated

It intends to turn over to the East German Communists control of all Western Allied air, road and rail routes to isolated Berlin, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

This means the Allies would have little choice—barring use of force or an airlift—but to negotiate with an East German regime they refuse to recognize, in order to keep supply lines open to their 10,000 troops. Western officials believe the Soviet action will provoke the gravest East-West crisis over Berlin since the 1948-49 blockade.

How soon the Soviet move may come is uncertain. A dispatch from Moscow said the Big Three's embassies there had not yet received any communication from the Kremlin on changing the status of West Berlin.

It was conceded, however, that the Soviet communications could be delivered to the three powers in West Berlin or in Washington, London and Paris.

'Political Offensive'

Adenauer's press chief, Felix von Eckardt, told a news conference the Shirmov visit appeared part of a "diplomatic and political offensive against free West Berlin." He pointedly made no reference to a military offensive.

Eckardt gave no details of what the Soviet envoy had told Adenauer, saying both had agreed to give out nothing but a brief communique. But U.S., British and French envoys were called to the Foreign Ministry and briefed.

Eckardt described the situation of West Berlin as very serious. He added, however, he did not think Berlin was "at the moment in acute danger."

The Smirnov visit was regarded in Berlin as the first formal diplomatic step toward Soviet renunciation of the postwar agreements on Berlin.

Autopsy Ordered On Pittman's Body

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — An autopsy was ordered Thursday on the body of actor Tom Pittman, likened to the late James Dean because of his moodiness and love of racing.

The body was found Wednesday in the wreckage of his powerful sports car in a deep canyon only a relatively short distance from Hollywood and Beverly Hills.

Pittman, 26, featured primarily in Western television features and with his first major motion picture still unreleased, disappeared Nov. 1. There was immediate speculation he had been fatally hurt in an accident, just as Dean died in the collision of his sports car and another auto three years ago.

But the wreckage of the Porsche Spyder was not discovered until Thursday. Officers theorized that Pittman's car failed to negotiate a curve, and the auto plunged end-over-end into the 300-foot Benedict Canyon.

Reds Seek Coffee Deal With Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—An informant at the presidential palace said Thursday the Soviet Union, Red China and other Communist countries have offered to trade industrial equipment for Brazil's surplus coffee.

President Juscelino Kubitschek has the final decision on whether the offer will be accepted, the source said. An expected acceptance will not mean diplomatic relations, broken in 1947, will be restored, he added.

Ike Begins His Dixie Vacation By Playing Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — President Eisenhower made a speedy transition Thursday from the sober proceedings of the cabinet and the National Security Council to the sunny fairways of a southern golf course.

By helicopter from the White House lawn just outside the cabinet room to the Washington Airport, thence southward aboard the big Columbine III, Eisenhower lost no time in getting at his favorite sport on his favorite golf course — the Augusta National Golf Club.

The Chief Executive landed here from Washington at 1:50 p.m. e.s.t. and was playing shortly after 2:30 p.m. His golfing companions were George Champion, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York who flew south with the President; and two old Augusta friends and fellow clubmen, Jerome Franklin and Elbert Peabody.

The weather was ideal for golf—a bright sun and the temperature about 75 degrees. The course was a bit dry, however, because this section needs rain.

Upon his arrival, the Chief Executive found a jewel - like "surprise" waiting for him just behind his club cottage, known locally as "Mamie's Cabin." The surprise consisted of a nine-hole pitch-and-putt golf course complete with new lake, situated between the Eisenhower house and the main highway bordering one side of the club property.

The new layout, designed primarily for practice rounds with the shorter irons, was installed since the Chief Executive's last visit here in the early spring of this year.

Negro Convicted In Child's Death

BALTIMORE (AP) — A slaughterhouse worker whose gifts of candy and money earned him the nickname "Uncle Henny" among the children of his neighborhood was convicted Thursday of murder in the Easter Sunday strangling of a 7-year-old girl.

James Henry Williams, 47-year-old Negro, was found guilty of first-degree murder in the death of Patricia E. Fox, also Negro. Her limp body was found in a West Baltimore cellarway.

Convicted Of Perjury

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mark Zborowski, a Russian born anthropologist and former Harvard University researcher, was convicted of perjury Thursday by a federal grand jury which heard testimony that he lied when he denied he knew Jack Soble, confessed Soviet spy.

The jury of nine men and three women returned the guilty verdict after three hours of deliberation. It had been listening to the case since Nov. 5.

Haitian Voodoo Dolls "Taboo"

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Public Health Service Thursday warned that Haitian voodoo dolls, sold in this country as novelties and beverage swizzle sticks, can kill babies and hex adults with a poison ivy-like rash.

The health service said in a statement that the Haitian Embassy here had promised to ask its government to bar further imports of the dolls.

The heads of the Haitian dolls are made of cashew nuts. Tests showed the shells of these nuts contained a liquid similar to the oil in poison ivy. It said volunteers broke out in blisters 35 to 50 minutes after touching the heads.

The health service also said it believed the eyes of the dolls were deadly jequirity beans.

Congress Must Extend Draft, Hershey Says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Selective Service Chief Lewis B. Hershey said Thursday the draft must be extended to keep the nation's armed forces manpower at safe levels.

Hershey said sizable new manpower cuts ordered Wednesday by Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy would not change the picture.

No statistics we've ever had in our history would indicate you can maintain anywhere near two million people in uniform without compulsion," he said.

Hershey said he already had asked the administration to request that the new Congress extend the military draft law, due to expire next July 1, for another four years.

McElroy set the Army's January draft call at 9,000 men—a 19 per cent cut—and ordered the armed forces to carry out scheduled reductions totaling 71,282 men by next June.

Those who believe the draft could be abolished may seize on the manpower cuts as ammunition. But Hershey was assured of strong backing from Defense Department officials.

Fate Of Killer's Ex-Girl Friend In Jury's Hands

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — The jury deliberating the murder trial of Caril Ann Fugate retired at 9:40 p. m. c.s.t. Thursday night without reaching a verdict.

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—A district court jury resumed deliberation after a lunch break Thursday night to decide whether Caril Ann Fugate should pay for her part in the January rampage of 10 murders by her boyfriend, Charles Starkweather.

The seven men and five women had deliberated six hours and 10 minutes when they recessed for the evening meal. They returned an hour and 25 minutes later.

Their bags were packed in the event they had to call it quits and stay in a hotel overnight to resume debate in the morning.

The 15-year-old eighth grader could be condemned to the Nebraska State Prison's electric chair. Starkweather has been sentenced to die in the chair but he has appealed to the state Supreme Court.

The jurors also could order the 91-pound girl imprisoned for life, or find her guilty of second-degree murder, which carries a sentence of 10 years to life, or set her free.

Caril was tried specifically with aiding and abetting Starkweather in the slaying of Robert Jensen, 17, last Jan. 27.

Caril, who stands just over five feet tall, insists she did not.

She was "as much a victim" as any of the 11 persons Starkweather killed, according to defense attorney John McArthur.

1,667-Foot TV Tower

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Thursday announced plans to build a 1,667-foot television tower, the world's tallest. The newspaper Trud said the tower will be built in southwestern Moscow next year.

A 1,610-foot TV tower at Roswell, N. M., is now the world's tallest man-made structure.

Virginia Flag Flies Solo Atop Capitol At Richmond

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) —Gov. J. Lindsay Almond said Thursday he had ordered the United States flag hauled down from the lone flagpole atop the state Capitol and the flag of Virginia run up in its place.

Almond, a leader in the South's "massive resistance" against public school integration, said he took the step because of a resolution passed by Congress. The resolution says that if two flags are displayed from the same pole, the U.S. flag must be on top.

The Virginia flag normally is not flown over the Capitol except during sessions of the general assembly. The assembly has not been in session since last March.

Reporters questioned Almond after they noticed that the switch in flags had been made. He said the U.S. flag had been taken down "because this is the Commonwealth of Virginia and I want the Virginia flag to fly from this Capitol."

Almond said he wanted to fly both flags but that since there was only one flagpole he would not permit the Virginia standard to be displayed under the American flag.

"If flown over the Capitol, the Virginia flag should fly on a parity with the American flag," he said.

The governor, who has closed down several Virginia schools to block integration, said he has "never harbored disrespect to the U.S. flag. I not only respect, I worship the flag of my country."

Almond said he had engineers working to erect a second flagpole on the Capitol.

Plans Drafted To Deal With Any Blockade

Officials Reaffirm Determination To Stand Fast In City

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top officials pledged Thursday to stand firm in Berlin in the face of Russia's initial move to drive the Western allies out of the divided city.

Authorities calmly reaffirmed this determination as American-British-French diplomats virtually completed drafting plans for countering any Red blockade of the former German capital.

President Eisenhower reviewed foreign policy problems with his top National Security Council a few hours after Russia's ambassador to West Germany formally disclosed the steps Russia intends to take.

But Berlin's future outlook was reported not among the topics Eisenhower discussed with his ranking foreign policy and defense advisers.

Ike On Vacation

Eisenhower demonstrated he foresaw no immediate crisis by leaving as scheduled afterward on a 10-day golfing vacation at Augusta, Ga.

The vacationing Secretary of State Dulles, who is resting at his Lake Ontario hideaway, was reported to have no plans to return to the capital until early next week.

The Eisenhower-Dulles absence reflected the administration's attitude of showing no alarm at the prospect the Communists might suddenly clamp a new blockade around Berlin.

Any sign of jitters, it was felt, might worry the Germans and perhaps encourage the Soviets and their Communist puppets to adopt an even tougher attitude.

Embassy Relays Report

A State Department spokesman refused to comment at a news conference on the Soviet ambassador's proposals to German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He reported at the time that the nature of the Soviet proposals had not yet been disclosed to the State Department.

Shortly before closing time, department officials reported they had received a confidential report on the proposals as relayed by the American Embassy in Bonn.

Authorities flatly declined to reveal the nature of the proposals, however. They said the report would be studied overnight.

GOC "Victim" Of Electronics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is closing down the Ground Observer Corps because radar and high-flying supersonic planes can outperform the human eyes and ears of the corps' civilian volunteers.

Plans to terminate the corps Jan. 31 were announced Thursday by Air Force Secretary James Douglas. He said the 280,000 civilian voluneers, manning 16,000 observation posts and 50 filter centers during the last nine years have "served faithfully as an adjunct of the air defense system."

Among the reasons given for discontinuing the corps were:

1. The growing scope and efficiency of the air defense radar net provides increasing assurance to air defense authorities that an enemy strike can be detected before reching the United States.

2. The fact that the GOC system of receiving, processing and transmitting air defense information is fast becoming unable to keep pace with the increasing speeds of enemy-manned bombers and the weapons systems now being used in air defense.

Five Children Set Sofa Afire, Perish

NEW YORK (AP) — Five children, left unattended in a crowded tenement apartment, died of smoke poisoning Thursday when they set fire to a couch.

Four were the children of Mr. and Mrs. William Lovelace. The fifth had been left in Mrs. Lovelace's care by a neighbor in Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section. All were Negro.

Firemen said the children apparently burned pieces of paper on a hotplate in the living room, and in some way set the couch smouldering. The apartment was otherwise undamaged.

Mrs. Lovelace said she found the children lying on the floor in the smoke-filled room when she returned from a brief shopping excusion.

Autopsy Ordered On Pittman's Body

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — An autopsy was ordered Thursday on the body of actor Tom Pittman, likened to the late James Dean because of his moodiness and love of racing.

The body was found Wednesday in the wreckage of his powerful sports car in a deep canyon only a relatively short distance from Hollywood and Beverly Hills.

Pittman, 26, featured primarily in Western television features and with his first major motion picture still unreleased, disappeared Nov. 1. There was immediate speculation he had been fatally hurt in an accident, just as Dean died in the collision of his sports car and another auto three years ago.

But the wreckage of the Porsche Spyder was not discovered until Thursday. Officers theorized that Pittman's car failed to negotiate a curve, and the auto plunged end-over-end into the 300-foot Benedict Canyon.

Reds Seek Coffee Deal With Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—An informant at the presidential palace said Thursday the Soviet Union, Red China and other Communist countries have offered to trade industrial equipment for Brazil's surplus coffee.

President Juscelino Kubitschek has the final decision on whether the offer will be accepted, the source said. An expected acceptance will not mean diplomatic relations, broken in 1947, will be restored, he added.

Caril Ann Fugate Leaves Court

Caril Ann Fugate, 15-year-old ex-sweetheart of killer Charles Starkweather, prepares to leave court after hearing her case sent to a jury at Lincoln, Neb., yesterday. Ike Begins His Dixie Vacation By Playing Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — President Eisenhower made a speedy transition Thursday from the sober proceedings of the cabinet and the National Security Council to the sunny fairways of a southern golf course.

By helicopter from the White House lawn just outside the cabinet room to the Washington Airport, thence southward aboard the big Columbine III, Eisenhower lost no time in getting at his favorite sport on his favorite golf course — the Augusta National Golf Club.

The Chief Executive landed here from Washington at 1:50 p.m. e.s.t. and was playing shortly after 2:30 p.m. His golfing companions were George Champion, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York who flew south with the President; and two old Augusta friends and fellow clubmen, Jerome Franklin and Elbert Peabody.

The weather was ideal for golf—a bright sun and the temperature about 75 degrees. The course was a bit dry, however, because this section needs rain.

Upon his arrival, the Chief Executive found a jewel - like "surprise" waiting for him just behind his club cottage, known locally as "Mamie's Cabin." The surprise consisted of a nine-hole pitch-and-putt golf course complete with new lake, situated between the Eisenhower house and the main highway bordering one side of the club property.

The new layout, designed primarily for practice rounds with the shorter irons, was installed since the Chief Executive's last visit here in the early spring of this year.

Negro Convicted In Child's Death

BALTIMORE (AP) — A slaughterhouse worker whose gifts of candy and money earned him the nickname "Uncle Henny" among the children of his neighborhood was convicted Thursday of murder in the Easter Sunday strangling of a 7-year-old girl.

James Henry Williams, 47-year-old Negro, was found guilty of first-degree murder in the death of Patricia E. Fox, also Negro. Her limp body was found in a West Baltimore cellarway.

Convicted Of Perjury

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mark Zborowski, a Russian born anthropologist and former Harvard University researcher, was convicted of perjury Thursday by a federal grand jury which heard testimony that he lied when he denied he knew Jack Soble, confessed Soviet spy.

The jury of nine men and three women returned the guilty verdict after three hours of deliberation. It had been listening to the case since Nov. 5.

Haitian Voodoo Dolls "Taboo"

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Public Health Service Thursday warned that Haitian voodoo dolls, sold in this country as novelties and beverage swizzle sticks, can kill babies and hex adults with a poison ivy-like rash.

The health service said in a statement that the Haitian Embassy here had promised to ask its government to bar further imports of the dolls.

The heads of the Haitian dolls are made of cashew nuts. Tests showed the shells of these nuts contained a liquid similar to the oil in poison ivy. It said volunteers broke out in blisters 35 to 50 minutes after touching the heads.

The health service also said it believed the eyes of the dolls were deadly jequirity beans.

Congress Must Extend Draft, Hershey Says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Selective Service Chief Lewis B. Hershey said Thursday the draft must be extended to keep the nation's armed forces manpower at safe levels.

Hershey said sizable new manpower cuts ordered Wednesday by Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy would not change the picture.

No statistics we've ever had in our history would indicate you can maintain anywhere near two million people in uniform without compulsion," he said.

Hershey said he already had asked the administration to request that the new Congress extend the military draft law, due to expire next July 1, for another four years.

McElroy set the Army's January draft call at 9,000 men—a 19 per cent cut—and ordered the armed forces to carry out scheduled reductions totaling 71,282 men by next June.

Those who believe the draft could be abolished may seize on the manpower cuts as ammunition. But Hershey was assured of strong backing from Defense Department officials.

Fate Of Killer's Ex-Girl Friend In Jury's Hands

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — The jury deliberating the murder trial of Caril Ann Fugate retired at 9:40 p. m. c.s.t. Thursday night without reaching a verdict.

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—A district court jury resumed deliberation after a lunch break Thursday night to decide whether Caril Ann Fugate should pay for her part in the January rampage of 10 murders by her boyfriend, Charles Starkweather.

The seven men and five women had deliberated six hours and 10 minutes when they recessed for the evening meal. They returned an hour and 25 minutes later.

Their bags were packed in the event they had to call it quits and stay in a hotel overnight to resume debate in the morning.

The 15-year-old eighth grader could be condemned to the Nebraska State Prison's electric chair. Starkweather has been sentenced to die in the chair but he has appealed to the state Supreme Court.

The jurors also could order the 91-pound girl imprisoned for life, or find her guilty of second-degree murder, which carries a sentence of 10 years to life, or set her free.

Caril was tried specifically with aiding and abetting Starkweather in the slaying of Robert Jensen, 17, last Jan. 27.

Caril, who stands just over five feet tall, insists she did not.

She was "as much a victim" as any of the 11 persons Starkweather killed, according to defense attorney John McArthur.

1,667-Foot TV Tower

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Thursday announced plans to build a 1,667-foot television tower, the world's tallest. The newspaper Trud said the tower will be built in southwestern Moscow next year.

A 1,610-foot TV tower at Roswell, N. M., is now the world's tallest man-made structure.

Virginia Flag Flies Solo Atop Capitol At Richmond

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) —Gov. J. Lindsay Almond said Thursday he had ordered the United States flag hauled down from the lone flagpole atop the state Capitol and the flag of Virginia run up in its place.

Almond, a leader in the South's "massive resistance" against public school integration, said he took the step because of a resolution passed by Congress. The resolution says that if two flags are displayed from the same pole, the U.S. flag must be on top.

The Virginia flag normally is not flown over the Capitol except during sessions of the general assembly. The assembly has not been in session since last March.

Reporters questioned Almond after they noticed that the switch in flags had been made. He said the U.S. flag had been taken down "because this is the Commonwealth of Virginia and I want the Virginia flag to fly from this Capitol."

Almond said he wanted to fly both flags but that since there was only one flagpole he would not permit the Virginia standard to be displayed under the American flag.

"If flown over the Capitol, the Virginia flag should fly on a parity with the American flag," he said.

The governor, who has closed down several Virginia schools to block integration, said he has "never harbored disrespect to the U.S. flag. I not only respect, I worship the flag of my country."

Almond said he had engineers working to erect a second flagpole on the Capitol.

Plans Drafted To Deal With Any Blockade

Officials Reaffirm Determination To Stand Fast In City

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top officials pledged Thursday to stand firm in Berlin in the face of Russia's initial move to drive the Western allies out of the divided city.

Authorities calmly reaffirmed this determination as American-British-French diplomats virtually completed drafting plans for countering any Red blockade of the former German capital.

President Eisenhower reviewed foreign policy problems with his top National Security Council a few hours after Russia's ambassador to West Germany formally disclosed the steps Russia intends to take.

But Berlin's future outlook was reported not among the topics Eisenhower discussed with his ranking foreign policy and defense advisers.

Ike On Vacation

Eisenhower demonstrated he foresaw no immediate crisis by leaving as scheduled afterward on a 10-day golfing vacation at Augusta, Ga.

The vacationing Secretary of State Dulles, who is resting at his Lake Ontario hideaway, was reported to have no plans to return to the capital until early next week.

The Eisenhower-Dulles absence reflected the administration's attitude of showing no alarm at the prospect the Communists might suddenly clamp a new blockade around Berlin.

Any sign of jitters, it was felt, might worry the Germans and perhaps encourage the Soviets and their Communist puppets to adopt an even tougher attitude.

Embassy Relays Report

A State Department spokesman refused to comment at a news conference on the Soviet ambassador's proposals to German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He reported at the time that the nature of the Soviet proposals had not yet been disclosed to the State Department.

Shortly before closing time, department officials reported they had received a confidential report on the proposals as relayed by the American Embassy in Bonn.

Authorities flatly declined to reveal the nature of the proposals, however. They said the report would be studied overnight.

GOC "Victim" Of Electronics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is closing down the Ground Observer Corps because radar and high-flying supersonic planes can outperform the human eyes and ears of the corps' civilian volunteers.

Plans to terminate the corps Jan. 31 were announced Thursday by Air Force Secretary James Douglas. He said the 280,000 civilian voluneers, manning 16,000 observation posts and 50 filter centers during the last nine years have "served faithfully as an adjunct of the air defense system."

Among the reasons given for discontinuing the corps were:

1. The growing scope and efficiency of the air defense radar net provides increasing assurance to air defense authorities that an enemy strike can be detected before reching the United States.

2. The fact that the GOC system of receiving, processing and transmitting air defense information is fast becoming unable to keep pace with the increasing speeds of enemy-manned bombers and the weapons systems now being used in air defense.

Five Children Set Sofa Afire, Perish

Four were the children of Mr. and Mrs. William Lovelace. The fifth had been left in Mrs. Lovelace's care by a neighbor in Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section. All were Negro.

Firemen said the children apparently burned pieces of paper on a hotplate in the living room, and in some way set the couch smouldering. The apartment was otherwise undamaged.

Mrs. Lovelace said she found the children lying on the floor in the smoke-filled room when she returned from a brief shopping excusion.

McKeldin Refuses To Spark Investigation Of State Police

Hits Legislative Council 'Buck-Passing'

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. McKeldin "fed up with the shadowgraphs of the Criminal Justice Commission and the buck-passing of the Legislative Council," has refused to spark a probe of the State Police.

The Legislative Council asked the governor to look into four areas of alleged State Police improprieties brough' to its attention by the Criminal Justice Commission.

In his reply to the Council, contained in a letter to Dr. Carl N. Everstine, secretary, McKeldin rejected the request Thursday.

"Why did not the Legislative Council, since it had the president of the commission before it, inquire concerning any and all other suggested or related improprieties in the Department of the Maryland State Police?" McKeldin asked.

The governor reiterated his faith in the integrity of Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of State Police and the entire department.

"I shall not be used by the commission or by anyone else to create an atmosphere of suspicion and distrust throughout an excellent state department," the governor said.

He added that assertions of impropriety sent him by the council were in "wraps of vagueness" and gave him no cause for making a study.

"I have full confidence in the State Police," McKeldin said. "I do not deny the possibility of isolated instances of wrongdoing. I am sure that the officers of the State Police are constantly on the lookout for such instances.

"If the Criminal Justice Commission knows of some that have not had the attention of Col. Munshower and his officers, it is the commission's duty to report them."

If the council believes an investigation on a grand scale is warranted, the governor said, the council itself should do the investigating, or the case should be submitted to a grand inquest at the convening of the General Assembly next January.

It was just such an investigation which Gordon M. Allen, president of the commission, urged in a report to the governor last month after the commission had conducted its own probe of the unserved warrants case.

The State Police warrants charged Baltimore contractor Sidney Sappington with three traffic violations. They remained unserved for 14 months.

After the delay was made public by the commission a private, Community Chest-supported agency without government connection — a special State Police board of inquiry composed of three captains investigated.

In its report, the State Police board cleared the department and the trooper who had served the warrants. It also commended Maj. William H. Weber, executive officer of the department, for using prudent judgment in holding up service of the warrants.

At the board inquiry's recommendation, two of the warrants —charging reckless driving and drunken driving — were dropped. The third charing disorderly conduct was processed and Sappington forfeited $26 collateral on that count.

Unsatisfied with the State Police findings in the case, the commission conducted its own probe, using the transcript and records of the State Police investigation.

In its report to the governor, the commission severely criticized the State Police and particularly Weber. The commission noted its lack of power to further investigate and called on the governor and officers of the General Assembly to probe the case under its power as a grand inquest with authority to subpoena witnesses and records and hear testimony under oath.

Pastor Kills Self Over Church's Failure To Grow

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A minister brooding over failure of his church membership to grow shot and killed himself Wednesday.

His son, Stephen, 9, and another boy found the body of Rev. Lester J. Moreland, 29, in his office at the Evangelical United Brethren Grace church. He became pastor there June 1.

Betty Fleming, a sister, said Moreland had been despondent because his 120-member congregation hadn't been responding as he had hoped they would. He had been hoping to build a larger membership, Mrs. Fleming said.

Mass Funeral Set For Ship Victims

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (AP) — Hope of finding more survivors of the sunken Carl D. Bradley was all but gone Thursday at headquarters of the Charlevoix Coast Guard group.

Meanwhile, mass funeral services and an official day of mourning were announced at Rogers City. The little northeastern Michigan town of 3,873 persons was home port for the huge cargo vessel and home for 31 of its 33 crewmen.

Apparently only two men, Frank Mays and Elmer Fleming, both of Rogers City, survived.

Economists Revise Downward Estimates Of Recovery Extent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The economic recovery wasn't quite as strong in the July-September quarter as government economists originally thought. They have revised downward their calculation of the gross nationa' product.

The Commerce Department said Thursday that GNP — the dollar volume of goods and services produced — increased to an annual rate of 439 billion dollars in the third quarter.

This was billion dollars less than President Eisenhower's economic advisers estimated a month ago. Still, it marked a 10-billion-dollar rise over the second quarter rate.

GNP is the most comprehensive economic indicator. It fell to a recession low of nearly 426 billions in the first quarter of 1958. The record high was 445½ billions in the third quarter of 1957 — a level which economists predict will be bettered next year.

All the figures are adjusted for seasional variations.

Most of the downward revision of the latest annual rate was in inventory changes and spending for personal consumption.

Individual Americans spent 500 million dollars less, at an annual rate, than was originally figured. Most of the change was in the durable goods category. Personal consumption spending is the biggest component of GNP, amounting to 291½ billion dollars.

Pilot Who Crashed In Front Of Train Tried To Hit Track

EL TORO, Calif. (AP)—A Marine pilot who crashed his jet in front of a speeding passenger train said Thursday he was purposely trying to hit the track.

"I knew it would stop me," said 2nd Lt. Phillip M. Schmidt, 23. "The last thing in the world that I ever considered was that there might be a train on it."

The Santa Fe diesel smashed into Schmidt's F4D jet at 75 m.p.h., Wednesday, flipping the wreckage against the train. Five cars were derailed, and flames engulfted the right-of-way. The metal cars did not catch fire.

Schmidt was pulled clear by a brakeman. Firemen from nearby El Toro Marine Air Base extinguished flames before any train passengers could be burned.

Schmidt said a power failure forced him to try an emergency landing at El Toro. He missed the cable that could have halted his jet. He nosed into the embankment, bounced onto the rails, and was trying to free himself from the cockpit when the train struck.

"I don't know how I got out of the plane," Schmidt told reporters at the base hospital, where he is being treated for a fractured collar-bone. "I guess the impact must have thrown me out through a hole in the side of the plane."

He said he didn't know the train was approaching when he hit the tracks.

Almost a billion dollars is dropped into United States juke boxes during the course of a year.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK—If robust, racy truth - is - stranger - than-fiction reporting is your dish, latch on to Andrew Tully's "Treasury Agent —the Inside Story." It covers the colorful and sometimes bloody war between crime and U.S. Treasury agents. Simon and Schuster is the publisher. There must be 50 good movie plots between its covers.

Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson gave Tully the run of the house, and out of the tiles spill a torrent of fascinating tales of sleuthing in the fields of income tax evasion, customs, smuggling, the U.S. currency, and other matters which pertain to T-men.

Tully's cast of characters is ripe, to say the least. He gets off to an astonishing story on how most of Frank Costello's woes date from a check for $5.10 signed by Mrs. Costello. Before he finishes, with a fascinating account of how a president is protected when he travels, Tully taps the explosive lives of Al Capone, Lepke, Waxey Gordon, Mickey Cohen, Bruno Hauptmann, Murder Inc., Artie Samish, Dave Beck and a host of others. Chapter headings give you some idea of the dash and verve of the writing, for example, "A Bum Named Capone," "Mickey Cohen, Welsher, and "Moonshine and Murder.'

The unpeeling of Costello's bewildering financial domain has all the arresting quality of a clinical account of a major operation. As Tully tells it, the telltale little check snowballed into a chase through a cemetery (where Costello has built himself a $23,000 mausoleum), to a Hot Springs, Ark., motel, in and out of costly hotel suites, around and around the Kefauver committee, and eventually to the pen. All flowed, Tully reasons, from "the trouble that accrues to a man when he brings a woman and a checkbook together."

The government files produced a picture of Capone as grisly as anything we've read in years. The diseased Brooklyn hood who went to Chicago to work as a bus boy and mop man in Big Jim Colisimo's tavern (he later killed Colisimo) became the biggest of them all.

"Al became what might be called a social killer," Tully writes. "His favorite sport was to toss one of his mobsters a big banquet and then, after the guest of honor had said a few words of thanks, to beat the man's brains out with a baseball bat, 'I like to hit people,' he'd tell Frank (The Enforcer) Nitti, and Nitti would grin horribly and pat Al on the back."

Capone went to prison cursing Herbert Hoover.'

"Secretary of Treasury Andrew Mellon reminisced in later years about President Hoover's so-called 'Medicine Cabinet', a little knot of officials who used to toss the medicine ball around with the President every morning," Tully writes:

"Every morning when the exercising started, Mr. Hoover would bring up the subject to Mellon. He'd ask him, 'Have you got that fellow Al Capone yet?' And at the end of the session, he'd say, 're-member now, I want that Capone in jail.'"

The book reveals that six anonymous citizens put up $75,000 to aid the bloodhound work of Elmer L. Irey, chief of Treasury's Intelligence Unit. It took a long time and cost a fortune. But Al went to the can, thanks partly to a remarkably courageous agent named Pat O'Rourke, who took the name of Michael Lepito and actually wormed his way into the upper echelon of the Capone mob. (The same Treasury which did Capone in later bought the mugg's armor-plated Cadillac for F.D.R. to use.)

Jaycees Hear Report On Television Plan

A report on the plan for receiving ultra high frequency television in Cumberland was presented at a meeting of the Junior Association of Commerce Wednesday, according to Edward F. Mullan Jr., president.

Action on the matter was deferred, Mullan said, pointing out that the association had investigated the possibility of supporting the plan some months ago.

CONTRACT AWARD

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Gladding, McBean & Co. announced Thursday it has been awarded a $215,000 Air Force contract for the development of heat and radiation-resistant ceramic nose cones for guided missiles.

As Tully tells it, the telltale little check snowballed into a chase through a cemetery (where Costello has built himself a $23,000 mausoleum), to a Hot Springs, Ark., motel, in and out of costly hotel suites, around and around the Kefauver committee, and eventually to the pen. All flowed, Tully reasons, from "the trouble that accrues to a man when he brings a woman and a checkbook together."

The government files produced a picture of Capone as grisly as anything we've read in years. The diseased Brooklyn hood who went to Chicago to work as a bus boy and mop man in Big Jim Colisimo's tavern (he later killed Colisimo) became the biggest of them all.

"Al became what might be called a social killer," Tully writes. "His favorite sport was to toss one of his mobsters a big banquet and then, after the guest of honor had said a few words of thanks, to beat the man's brains out with a baseball bat. 'I like to hit people,' he'd tell Frank (The Enforcer) Nitti, and Nitti would grin horribly and pat Al on the back."

Capone went to prison cursing Herbert Hoover.

"Secretary of Treasury Andrew Mellon reminisced in later years about President Hoover's so-called 'Medicine Cabinet', a little knot of officials who used to 'toss the medicine ball around with the President every morning," Tully writes:

"Every morning when the exercising started, Mr. Hoover would bring up the subject to Mellon. He'd ask him, 'Have you got that fellow Al Capone yet?' And at the end of the session, he'd say, 're-member now, I want that Capone in jail.'"

The book reveals that six anonymous citizens put up $75,000 to aid the bloodhound work of Elmer L. Irey, chief of Treasury's Intelligence Unit. It took a long time and cost a fortune. But Al went to the can, thanks partly to a remarkably courageous agent named Pat O'Rourke, who took the name of Michael Lepito and actually wormed his way into the upper echelon of the Capone mob. (The same Treasury which did Capone in later bought the mugg's armor-plated Cadillac for F.D.R. to use.)

Hiring Drops In Maryland; Jobless Pay Claims Rise

BALTIMORE (AP) — About 400 persons of diversified interests are expected here tomorrow for a statewide conference aimed at continued progress in Maryland's educational system.

The daylong conference was recommended last February by the State Board of Education and is expected to become an annual affair, preceded by local meetings throughout the state.

In addition to three main speakers, the conferees will break up into seven discussion groups to consider:

1. Statutory requirements for the instructional program in Maryland public schools.
2. Purposes of public education.
3. Planning and developing the curricula.
4. Relationship between cost and quality of the educational program.
6. Sharing financial support by the state and local political sub divisions.
7. Teacher education and certification.

Dr. Paul R. Mort, Richard March Hoe Professor of Education at Columbia University, will speak at the morning session on the need for increased financial support for public education.

Judge Charles E. Moylan of Baltimore will speak at a luncheon session on "What's Right with Youth," and Dr. Reuben G. Gustavson, president and executive director of Resources for the Future Inc., will speak at the dinner meeting on "Humanity's Stake in Education."

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, and Wendell D. Allen, president of the State Board of Education, also will speak at the opening session.

400 To Attend Education Conference

BALTIMORE (AP)—There was a 9 per cent dip in hiring in Maryland last week by industries insured under the state unemployment insurance law.

There also was a slight increase in the number of persons filing for jobless pay, the Department of Employment Security reported Thursday.

It traced the drop in hiring to the Veterans' Day holiday of Nov. 11.

Employers reported the hiring or rehiring of 14,645 workers, compared to 16,100 for the week ending Nov. 8.

Of those filing claims for jobless pay, 23,033 drew benefits, up one-half of one percent from the previous week.

A total of 31,371 filed claims but more than 8,000 were not eligible for immediate aid, were disqualified or their claims were disputed.

The department said 681 persons exhausted the full 26 weeks of state aid and can file for help under the temporary compensation program.

Benefits paid out totaled $735,291 last week, up from the $724,513 of the previous week.

The department said also it placed 5,292 persons in non-farm jobs in October, down from 6,148 in September and 5,899 in October, 1957.

Employers listed 6,494 job openings with the department in October compared to 7,404 in September and 6,951 in October a year ago.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Unemployment checks will be paid out next Wednesday to persons who normally draw them on Thursday because of the Thanksgiving holiday next Thursday.

Claimants who regularly get checks on Wednesday also will receive them that day, the Department of Employment Security announced.

Navy Plans Transfer

SRC Acts On D.C.-Area Projects

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission took action Thursday on two highway projects in the Washington area. One has been under discussion for nearly ten years.

It authorized the drafting of a formal agreement with Prince Georges County covering the extension of Iverson St. to Maryland 5, or Branch Avenue. Talks on the Iverson Street extension had been held over a period of years.

The commission also awarded a contract to the Masonry Resurfacing and Construction Co. of Baltimore for the construction of a bridge to carry Washington Circumferential Highway traffic over Brunett Avenue north of Silver Spring. The contract went to the firm on its low bid of $202,140.

The bridge, a federal aid project, will be a dual span with 40 foot roadways.

Norman Pritchett, chief engineer of the roads commission, said the Prince Georges commissioners are asking permission to extend Iverson Street to Maryland 5 with the understanding no cross-over will be provided. All expenses are to be borne by the county.

Maryland 5 is a controlled access highway and Iverson Street is a divided highway.

Pritchett said various discussions on the project had been held since 1949.

SRC Acts On D.C.-Area Projects

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission took action Thursday on two highway projects in the Washington area. One has been under discussion for nearly ten years.

It authorized the drafting of a formal agreement with Prince Georges County covering the extension of Iverson St. to Maryland 5, or Branch Avenue. Talks on the Iverson Street extension had been held over a period of years.

The commission also awarded a contract to the Masonry Resurfacing and Construction Co. of Baltimore for the construction of a bridge to carry Washington Circumferential Highway traffic over Brunett Avenue north of Silver Spring. The contract went to the firm on its low bid of $202,140.

The bridge, a federal aid project, will be a dual span with 40 foot roadways.

Norman Pritchett, chief engineer of the roads commission, said the Prince Georges commissioners are asking permission to extend Iverson Street to Maryland 5 with the understanding no cross-over will be provided. All expenses are to be borne by the county.

Maryland 5 is a controlled access highway and Iverson Street is a divided highway.

Pritchett said various discussions on the project had been held since 1949.

Fire Burns Forest On Polish Mountain

A forest fire on the east side of Polish Mountain in a remote section of Green Ridge State Forest was extinguished Wednesday by personnel of the forest and boys from the Green Ridge camp.

The fire, apparently started by a hunter, covered a half acre before it was brought under control. William A. Johnson, district forester, said yesterday.

Heading the firefighting unit was Floyd Custer, forest superintendent; Thomas Dixon, forest guard, and ten boys from the Green Ridge rehabilitation camp.

The fire started about 4 p. m. and was brought under control by 7:30 p. m.

Johnson said this was the first fire in the area since last Thursday. That one covered 45 acres of woodland on Dan s Mountain southeast of Lonaconing.

An investigation is being conducted by the forestry department, Johnson said, to determine the cause.

The rain Friday and Saturday helped to quench the extensive, smoldering fire. But the conditions of the forests are back in the hazardous stage due to the high winds of Wednesday drying of the surface of the ground.

Johnson appealed to hunters who are numerous in the woods to observe the safety first rules concerning fires and smoking.

Honored At Dinner

A dinner meeting of 20 adult leaders of 4-H Clubs in Allegany and Garrett counties was held Tuesday at Happy Hills Farm Restaurant on U.S. Route 40, west of Frostburg.

A. V. Krewatch, agricultural engineer from the University of Maryland, was the speaker. He discussed the electrical program for 4-H Club members.

Court Upholds Ruling In Accident Case

A ruling in a decision of the Maryland Workmen's Compensation Commission was upheld yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The commission had disallowed a claim filed by Philip Barkman against the Cumberland Steel Company.

In a directed verdict for the defendant company, Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris disallowed the claim, affirming the decision of the commission.

The main issue of the case was over the statute of limitations covering the filing date of the application from the time the injury occurred.

The injury, according to testimony, occurred on September 9, 1954, and it was not until after the year's limit that the claim was filed.

Thomas B. Finan represented the company and Milton Gerson the defendant.

After the instructions were read by the judge, the jury with John Estes as foreman was excused.

PPG Manager Reviews Strike Progress

A review of the contract sections which have prevented a settlement of the negotiations between the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and the United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union is included in a letter to employes of the firm's Works 7 plant here from R. M. Hainsfurther, plant manager.

In his letter, Hainsfurther says it is his opinion that the position of the North Branch plant is different fron, any of the other PPG plants affected by the strike.

His evaluation of the issues, in part, follows:

"The Cumberland plant was built primarily to supply twin ground mirror glass to mirror manufacturers. Cumberland has the only twin grinder operated by Pittsburgh Plate Glass. No other Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant at present can produce this twin ground product. Cumberland will also be the plant where the first twin polished glass will be produced.

"There is no doubt, many production problems must be solved before these operations will be perfected, but out of this should come a superior product for mirror glazing quality plate glass. All of this means security for Cumberland employes. During the past two years you have had the steadiest kind of employment. If we haven't lost many of our customers to other domestic and foreign producers when this strike is over, you should still have steady employment.

"On Section 18, (Incentives) our position remains the same as I have discussed with you in our meetings. Our operations and production are far from such that incentive discussions would be appropriate for Cumberland.

"As to Section 23, (Distribution of Overtime) our local agreement has resulted in few problems and records show that a good job of equitable distribution has been done. The spread of hours in overtime distribution units is quite reasonable. We do not have excessive costs due to bad practices, which are in effect at other plants.

"No one can deny that the argument on excessive manpower does not concern Cumberland. We have had no part in this argument.

"We have lived together under our own agreement on Section 27 (Control of Speeds) for two years. We have tried to increase production in an effort to bring our shipments up and our costs down so that we might be competitive with domestic and foreign producers. Where necessary we have added manpower to avoid hardships, and we have had no disagreements on this point. The company policy is and shall continue to be that we do not expect and will not condone any employe working under conditions which subject him to undue hardships.

"As far as wages are concerned with respect to the Cumberland plant, the company made an offer of a 12 cents per hour increase each year for two years which gives Cumberland more than any other plant involved in these negotiations and is a larger wage increase than has been given this year to any other Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant in any of its divisions.

"In regard to our local problems which have been mentioned to you, we have clarified these problems at a meeting on November 12 with your local representatives. We believe we will be able to resolve the great majority of them. There may be a few issues on which we cannot agree. We plan to have further meetings with your local representatives and will do our best to resolve the Cumberland problems.

"When and if the Cumberland plant will start operations again will depend on the action of its employes and their representatives. We are willing to do whatever may be reasonable and possible to end this strike and return to work at Cumberland."

Man Files Appeal In Hunting Fine

An appeal was filed Wednesday in Allegany County Circuit Court by an Oldtown area man who was fined $100 on a charge of spotlighting deer.

The appeal was filed by Taylor Junior Vanmeter. He was arrested on November 12 by Game Warden Frederick J. Taylor on Warrior Mountain near Williams Road.

He was charged with violating the state game laws by spotlight hunting deer with firearms in his possession.

Dayton Lewis, trial magistrate at Oldtown, found him guilty the next day and fined him $100 and ordered him to pay $5 costs.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Two persons were killed Wednesday night in a fresh outbreak of gang warfare between rival bands of Arenians, the interior ministry said Thursday.

Two Types Of Apples From Area Under Study

Two nearly obsolete varieties of apples have been found in Allegany County and taken to the U. S. Department of Agriculture laboratory at Beltsville for study.

County Agent Joseph M. Steger said a half bushel each of Wolf River and Ben Davis were finally located after considerable inquiry by himself and James Arnold, assistant county agent.

A graduate researcher at the department's laboratory will conduct studies into the reasons for this type of apples not turning brown or oxidizing as fast as others when cut open.

Steger said the Wolf Rivers were contributed by Delbert Knippenberger, Irons Mountain orchardist, and the Ben Davis fron Tad Crabtree of Oldtown.

Story Of Employes' Charity Fund At Memorial Hospital Featured In National Magazine

Memorial Hospital's Employes' Charity Fund is praised in an article published this month by "Hospital Management," a magazine published in Chicago.

Author of the story is John A. Moberly, superintendent of the local institution.

The article explains how the hospital's fund, one of the first in Allegany County, aids the various charitable organizations in the county.

In the story, Moberly points out that before the plan was started employes of the hospital were approached by representatives of the various organizations such as Red Cross, Community Chest, Crippled Children's League, Heart Fund, Polio Fund, Cancer Fund and others for contributions.

It became obvious that regardless of how worthy these various endeavors were, the hospital employes' time and the time of many employes in making solicitations was creating administrative problems.

The idea of an employes' charity fund was presented and accepted by all employes and administrative workers of the institutions.

Under the program each employe contributes one-quarter of one per cent of their salary each payday to be deducted from their salary via a payroll deduction program.

The money is then deposited in a Charity Fund and the officers of the fund, representing personnel from various departments, distribute the donations to the county organizations.

One of the best features of the program is that as payroll increases are granted, the Charity Fund benefits proportionately.

In addition to donations to charity, mostly through the County United Fund, the hospital's Charity Fund also sends flowers when death of an employe occurs or to a close relative, thus avoiding the necessity of "passing the hat" for donations to any flower fund.

Moberly points out that this has proved most successful, and that it is obvious that it is a pleasure for employes not to have to go through fund raising campaigns each year within the hospital for various organizations.

Since the Charity Fund was started more than twice as much is raised for worthwhile charities that through the conventional methods used prior to the inauguration of the organization.

Story Of Employes' Charity Fund At Memorial Hospital Featured In National Magazine

Memorial Hospital's Employes' Charity Fund is praised in an article published this month by "Hospital Management," a magazine published in Chicago.

Author of the story is John A. Moberly, superintendent of the local institution.

The article explains how the hospital's fund, one of the first in Allegany County, aids the various charitable organizations in the county.

In the story, Moberly points out that before the plan was started employes of the hospital were approached by representatives of the various organizations such as Red Cross, Community Chest, Crippled Children's League, Heart Fund, Polio Fund, Cancer Fund and others for contributions.

It became obvious that regardless of how worthy these various endeavors were, the hospital employes' time and the time of many employes in making solicitations was creating administrative problems.

The idea of an employes' charity fund was presented and accepted by all employes and administrative workers of the institutions.

Under the program each employe contributes one-quarter of one per cent of their salary each payday to be deducted from their salary via a payroll deduction program.

The money is then deposited in a Charity Fund and the officers of the fund, representing personnel from various departments, distribute the donations to the county organizations.

One of the best features of the program is that as payroll increases are granted, the Charity Fund benefits proportionately.

In addition to donations to charity, mostly through the County United Fund, the hospital's Charity Fund also sends flowers when death of an employe occurs or to a close relative, thus avoiding the necessity of "passing the hat" for donations to any flower fund.

Moberly points out that this has proved most successful, and that it is obvious that it is a pleasure for employes not to have to go through fund raising campaigns each year within the hospital for various organizations.

Since the Charity Fund was started more than twice as much is raised for worthwhile charities that through the conventional methods used prior to the inauguration of the organization.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—With Frank Sinatra and Brigitte Bardot, the undressed French movie queen, miles apart in location and ideas for "Paris by Night", Louis Jourdan will probably take Frankie's place with la belle Bardot. Louis made "The Bride was so Beautiful" with Brigitte before she became famous, and he told me when I interviewed him that they had worked very well together. She didn't pull any of that temperamental stuff for which she is now known.

In the interim, Louis has "Gigi" which is a smash hit, and he has become famous himself. In "Paris by Night" he would play an American singer, and he wants to do a musical. If there's any trouble with Bardot, Louis can answer her in her own language. Raoul Levy, Bardot's manager who has been here, persuaded Jourdan to fly to Paris to close the deal with the French star.

The best tonic I know of for the blues is to talk to David Niven, who's always so bright and cheerful. He told me that he has just bought a script "Make Believe" by Coles Trapnell. He describes it as a bitter sweet romantic story laid in Egypt at the time of the Suez trouble.

David says he wants Deborah Kerr so much for his co-star that he's going to send her a script every day for 25 years until she says "Yes." He would also like to have Dick Powell, a partner in their Four-Star TV enterprise to produce and direct.

I have known David for 25 years (hope you don't mind my saying this, David) and at this moment he's more important and popular an actor than ever. He is great in both "Around the World in 80 Days," and his latest "Separate Tables."

Princess Grace sent for Rupert Allen to handle her publicity while she is in New York. He left today and will be on hand to meet the Princess and Prince Rainier when they arrive on Sunday. They left immediately after the national holiday in Monaco on Saturday.

The royal couple now plan to stay until Dec. 20, returning to Monaco in time for the Christmas Holidays.

If Princess Caroline had made the trip with her parents she would have stolen the show. I only know a few other two-year-old girls as cute as she is—one of them is Carrie Frances Fisher.

In all innocence I've started a terrible feud between Washington apples and Utah apples. After printing John Winterringer's (Yakima, Wash., Chamber of Commerce) blast at Gary Cooper for eating Utah apples on the set of "They Came to Cordura," it's only fair to give the same space to Doyle Sampson, president, St. George, Utah, Chamber of Commerce.

"Winterringer's statement is rotten to the core. Sounds like a lot of yakita yak from Yakima. There's no comparison between apples of the two states. Everybody knows when the worm finally turns it turns into a Washington apple. With doctors and teachers who know apples best, It's Utah apples 10 to 1." Gentlemen, gentlemen — I am appall - ed by your carryings-on.

No Marxism On The Moon

A Russian scientist has collected data which he interprets as evidence of a volcanic eruption on the moon several days ago. Spectroscopic observation of the peak of the crater Alphonse showed a doubling of light intensity, accompanied by brilliant streaks of carbon and carbon compounds.

After the red flare subsided, subsequent photographs showed that the situation had gone back to normal.

This is an important finding, pointing to the possibility that the moon is not so dead and inert as man had believed it to be. But British scientists are skeptical of the Russian's volcanic interpretation. They suggest there may be pockets of carbon dioxide gas below the surface of the moon.

Such pockets are frequent in the earth's crust, as oil drillers can testify. On the moon's cracked and pitted surface a gas pocket may have blown off, raising a cloud of lunar dust and revealing the presence of carbon.

This argument is strictly non-political. Presumably Russian and Western scientists will continue to examine the evidence and make new observations. When sufficient data are available, scientists on both sides of the iron curtain will cheerfully reach agreement on the point. Science has a built-in mechanism for correcting its errors in the light of the facts.

It is fortunate that Karl Marx never produced a lot of dogma in the natural sciences which it would be treasonable deviationism for scientists in a Communist country to question. If he had done so, the scientific discoveries of the last century would have to be tested for Marxian orthodoxy, and Russian science would become no less backward than Russian political theory.

Newton can be superseded where advances in theory or experimentation prove him wrong. But Marx's errors in political theory, by decree of the Kremlin, must endure forever.

These Days

J. Edgar Hoover

Slowly, it builds up. First, it appeared in "The Nation"; then we heard it was coming to the "New York Post"; then it actually appeared in "The Worker." It will move round and round like a black wind—the attack on J. Edgar Hoover.

What is it that those engaged in this are trying to prove? It is that the FBI is no better than the secret police of Soviet Russia; that we are, in effect, a police state. What has thus far been brought to the surface is nothing, but the boom of the Big Lie fills the air; it will be repeated and repeated.

"The Nation" is supposed to be a great liberal organ. It once was. This much is evident: it dislikes J. Edgar Hoover, an entire issue's worth. In the investigation of Harvey Matusow, it was shown that R. Lawrence Siegel, general counsel for "The Nation," Hadassah R. Shapiro, his associate, and the assistant to the publisher of the magazine, Martin Solow, were indicted. The following reason was given at the time by Thomas A. Bolan, of the U. S. Attorney's office:

In the springtime of 1954, Carey McWilliams put Matusow in touch with Siegel. Siegel had a number of meetings with Matusow (prior to the latter's recantations in January 1955) and recorded the substance of his conversations in contemporaneous typewritten memoranda. When asked to produce the memoranda by the grand jury, Siegel instead destroyed them and created fictitious memoranda in their place which he passed on to the grand jury as originals. When the grand jury asked to see the shorthand notes for the memoranda, he had the original notes destroyed and had his secretary write fictitious notes to correspond to the fictitious memoranda. Miss Shapiro aided him in this scheme. On July 13, 1955, they were indicted for obstructing justice and perjury.

In January 1958, Siegel was convicted of three counts of obstructing justice and four counts of perjury; Shapiro was convicted of two counts of perjury and three of obstructing justice. Siegel was fined and given a suspended sentence and Shapiro a suspended sentence. Both were subsequently disbarred.

Certainly anyone may criticize any public official and many are deserving of criticism. Furthermore, the FBI is not sacrosanct and if it is in error, its errors should be corrected. But the persistent attack upon J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI, emanating from the same quarters over a period of years, looks like revenge. It gives the appearance of a relentless effort to destroy an American institution.

In this effort appears the curious character, Paul Hughes, who posed as a secret investigator for Senator Joe McCarthy and who collected nearly $11,000 over a period of a year from Senator McCarthy's opponents. Hughes was indicted for perjury, for testifying, among other things, before the grand jury that Joseph L. Rauh Jr., a Washington, D. C. lawyer and a leader in the A.D.A., knew that the information he obtained from Hughes was false.

Rauh and James Wechsler, editor of the "New York Post," were called before the grand jury in this matter. In the Hughes trial the question arose as to whether Rauh had told Wechsler that he, Rauh, had planted a secret informer on Senator McCarthy's staff. Bolan claimed that Wechsler had told him that Rauh had told him (Wechsler) all about the Hughes project without disclosing Hughes' name. Wechsler subsequently denied Bolan's account of the incident, corroborating Rauh and claiming that Wechsler reached his own conclusions by deduction and inference, which is, indeed, a feat.

Subsequently Wechsler testified again and it would appear from all the back and forth of this business that Rauh had given Wechsler considerable information in the Hughes case.

I'm refreshing my own memory and the memories of my readers concerning these and other matters only because I am searching for a reason for the persistent attacks on Hoover. Nothing new or startling was brought forth by "The Nation" report; most of it appeared years ago in Max Lowenthal's book. The "New York Post" profile is still in the making. "The Worker" article was a rehash of "The Nation" material. Precisely why, at this time, are these people ganging up on Hoover?

The reason will soon enough appear. Maybe, someone wants to have a look at the FBI files or maybe someone wants Hoover's job, or maybe someone wants to destroy America's foremost police organization.

'Next Come Two Churns For Your Feet'

America Needs Some Sincere Bipartisanship

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Although two weeks have passed since the Congressional elections, no leader of the Democratic Party has seen fit to make a public statement denying that the American people have repudiated the foreign policy of the Eisenhower Administration.

Believing that the American people do not support the Administration, Moscow has been encouraged to start a crisis in Berlin. The Kremlin doubtless is expecting the Democratic Party position to be that Berlin isn't worth fighting for and that, like Quemoy and Matsu, the American notes of protest are just part of a "brink of war" maneuver by Secretary of State Dulles.

The tragic history of past behavior by dictatorship governments unfortunately confirms the fact that they move aggressively when they think the West is disunited and particularly when they think their strongest adversary is weakened by internal factionalism.

Daniel Schorr, formerly correspondent of the Columbia Broadcasting System in Moscow and now stationed in Warsaw, broadcast the other day this comment from the Polish capital:

"The accent is on Europe. The Communists have apparently convinced themselves that the Eisenhower Administration has been too paralyzed by its election defeat to offer adequate resistance to a diplomatic offensive now against West Germany."

Almost immediately after the recent Congressional elections in the United States, in which the Republican Party suffered a severe defeat, Premier Khrushchev told reporters that he interpreted the election to mean that American people "have condemned the Dulles policy of positions of strength which is supported by Mr. Eisenhower." He added:

"People everywhere, including the American people, were opposed to the foreign policies of the Western nations."

While, as usual, putting in a hypocritical disclaimer about not wanting to interfere in the interal affairs of the United States, the Communist leader has revealed nevertheless that the American elections are regarded by him as a victory for the Communist position in world affairs.

More important now is what the Moscow Premier does about it. The fact that a crisis over the status of Berlin has been precipitated is significant of the Kremlin's belligerency. Its policy is evidently based on the idea that now is the time to press an advantage because the United States has a divided government.

It is regrettable that Senator Lyndon Johnson, majority leader, who was invited by Secretary Dulles to speak this week at the United Nations on the subject of control of outer space, has not made an unequivocal statement on down-to-earth questions like Berlin, Formosa and the Middle East, where the Soviets may be doing some "brinkmanship" of their own. It seems unfortunate that America is not presenting, through her opposing political leaders, some semblance of unity in world affairs.

History shows that the danger of war increases when one side thinks the other is either too weak to fight back or is "paralyzed" by an election defeat, as Mr. Schorr phrased it in his broadcast.

There are, of course, the pacifists and appeasers and the well-intentioned but mistaken critics of the Administration who have raised the cry that Quemoy or Matsu are not worth fighting for. Will they say the same of Berlin, which is really a symbol of freedom in central Europe? If America does not want to fall for the Communist trap, which seeks to detach the West German Republic from its position as an effective ally in NATO, then the capital city which means so much sentimentally to the German people must not be forfeited.

The Moscow regime certainly is taking risks not only in trying to force the recognition of the East German government as an independent entity but also in shooting at the planes of the U.S. Air Force over the Baltic and over the Sea of Japan — far from land.

This is a game that could lead to a crisis with grave complications. The Moscow government has been for several months trying to test out American resoluteness. This was tried in the Middle East and resulted in the dispatch of American Marines to Lebanon. Then the Far East was tested, and now it's Central Europe.

When they look at the "cold war" map, the Communists are evidently betting on a retreat by President Eisenhower in the face of criticism from the dominant political party in America. It certainly is a time for sincere bipartisanship in America.

You're Telling Me!

Four potential Republican Presidential candidates are listed by Harold Stassen, former Minnesota governor. Fine—that takes care of the backfield, Harold, now how about naming the line?

The U. S. again faces the problem of an overproduction of potatoes. Guess it's up to us to order a second helping of French frieds.

In a successful operation, surgeons removed 160 nails from the stomach of Sayd Mohammed, a 40-year-old Persian. Even though his appetite may remain sharp, he'd better try a lighter diet.

Sayd also had swallowed a spoon and a pocket knife. Probably just to get a change of diet.

Many Reasons For Overeating; None Good

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Why do people overeat? Some have to, because they are driven to gluttony by nervousness, irritation, or boredom. Others gorge because it is the thing to do. We all know men and women whose main activities of life center around eating and drinking.

They are devotees of cocktail parties, bridge games, delightful dinners, and weekend gatherings. These individuals are likely to put on weight gradually and become obese in time. It is a real chore to lose flesh, because they must avoid the affairs that interest them most.

Many women start gaining weight early in life because they "eat for two" during each pregnancy. They take on 40 instead of the average 15 to 20 pounds with each pregnancy, and by age 30 are struggling to get back their girlhood figure.

It is not easy to do this; statistics show that less than one in three will succeed. It is easier to follow the advice of the obstetrician by keeping the weight gain to not more than 20 pounds above the pre-pregnancy level.

Those who overeat because they are nervous have a problem that is difficult to overcome. Psychic disturbances upset the emotional equilibrium of the body with respect to various functions including the chemical composition of the fluids and tissues. The system attempts in these cases to regain balance by craving more food. But it is difficult to depress a good appetite after it develops in response to a bodily need. A good appetite is a sign of health, regardless of size.

Most of us unconsciously regard food restriction as a threat to health or an arbitrary denial of a pleasure principle. The sooner the emotional cause for overeating is nipped in the bud, the better.

The individual eats initially because he is nervous. As fat accumulates, he feels sorry for himself and eats more. The habit becomes expensive and wasteful because half the food consumed is used to nourish the excess poundage.

MIDDLE-AGED STUTTERER

R. D. writes: What could cause stuttering to appear in middle life? This person was never bothered by speech trouble as a child.

REPLY

Stuttering usually begins between the ages of 2 and 6. When the defect appears later in life, an emotional or a neurological disturbance may be responsible. Examination is in order.

EYEBROW MAKEUP

Mrs. T. writes: I have lost my eyebrows and would like to know if it is safe to have brows tattooed on my face?

REPLY

Yes, but it is easier to use cosmetics. The objection to tattooing is its permanence. It will not change as the years pass by to match your aging complexion and graying hair.

FEVER LOWERING

R. F. writes: If fever is natural in infections, why is aspirin given to lower it?

REPLY

Old-timers thought an elevated temperature killed bacteria but this idea is passe. Fever is detrimental because it is uncomfortable and saps the body's strength. The same might be said of bleeding from a cut. There is no purpose in losing blood just because it is natural for a wound to bleed. The system has a better way of dealing with bacteria through the forces of immunity.

BLOOD CLOTS IN LEG

Mrs. L. C. writes: If a person had a blood clot in the same leg twice, is it safe to go walking, dancing, and swimming?

REPLY

This depends upon whether the clot developed in a vein or an artery or traveled from the heart. In general, individuals with a history like this are better off taking it easy.

SENSE PERCEPTIONS

T. C. writes: Please explain hallucinations.

REPLY.

Hallucinations are sensory experiences. They may be auditory in that the individual hears voices and carries on a conversation with an imaginary companion. Others smell peculiar odors, see things that do not exist, or taste putrid substances. Still others believe bugs are crawling under the skin.

TOMORROW: Enlarged prostate.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Leon Forem tells about a farmer, "a bit over 90," who strolled over to the town graveyard one afternoon with a crony. The crony pointed to one stone and said "There lies Timothy Oberdorf." "How old was he?" asked our farmer. "In his sixties," said the crony. "Well," philosophized the farmer amiably, "a man's got to go some time." He was equally unmoved by the graves of others who had passed on in their 60s and 70s.

All was changed, however, when the crony said, "Why, here's the last resting place of Manfred Jones who died at 92."

The farmer, now visibly shaken, said, "Tarnation! So they've reached that age, too!"

Customer in a Tulsa gifte shoppe announced "I want to send a good luck card to a man who's drilling for oil on my property."

"I've got just the thing for you," said the clerk — and handed him a "get well" card.

Italian Americans Replacing Irish Political Leaders In Many Offices

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — While Carmine De Sapio, the handsome boss of Tammany Hall, was the chief issue defeating the Democrats in New York, another Italian-American, also a Democrat, was scoring a tremendous victory in Ohio. Mike Di Salle was elected Governor of Ohio in a record-breaking sweep.

This focuses attention on the fact that Americans of Italian origin have partly replaced the Irish as a political-governing group in the USA. For years the mayors of big eastern cities were usually Irish. The head of Tammany for years was Irish.

Today the Governor of Massachusetts, Foster Furcolo, is Italian in a state once divided between the Irish and the Yankees. The new Republican Governor of Rhode Island, Christopher Del Sesto, is Italian. The Democratic Senator from Rhode Island, John Pastore, is Italian, recently re-elected. On the other hand, Thomas D'Alesandro, long-time Mayor of Baltimore, was defeated for the Senate.

The Mayor of Detroit, Louis Miriani, is also Italian, while there are 12 Italian-American Congressmen in the House of Representatives. Not all of them come from the big eastern cities. Dante Fascell is elected from Florida. Roland Libonati comes from Chicago. The others are: Hugh Addonizio and Peter Rodino, both of Newark, N. J.; Victor Anfuso, Brooklyn; Silvio Conte, Pittsfield, Mass.; Emilio Daddario, Hartford, Conn.; Dominick Daniels, Jersey City; John Dent, Jeannette, Pa.; Paul Fino, Bronx, N. Y.; Robert Giaimo, North Haven, Conn.; and Alfred Santangelo, New York City.

In Cleveland the other day, this writer met its Mayor, Anthony Celebrezze. Cleveland is one of the best-run cities in the USA, has had a succession of notable mayors dating back to Tom Johnson; Harold Burton, later appointed to the Supreme Court; Frank Lausche, later Governor and Senator; and Tom Burke, later a Senator. Celebrezze, who is giving Cleveland an equally good government, is a Democrat, elected by many Republican votes, just as Mike Di Salle was elected Governor of Ohio with the help of Republicans.

Alongside Mayor Celebrezze, as I talked with him, was another Italian-American mayor, efficient Frank Celeste of nearby Lakewood.

"What do you Italians mean by taking all these jobs away from the Irish?" I asked the mayors of Cleveland and Lakewood.

At The Races

Gossip in the diplomatic corps is that the Russian spectators at the "International" at Laurel, Md., were placed in Section 13 to put a jinx on the Russian horses shipped from Moscow to participate in the big race. If so, the Russians and their satellites took it with a smile.

Said rotund Ambassador Silviu Brucan of Rumania:

"We are on the left, but look at the State Department. They are way over on the extreme left.' He pointed to Edward L. Freers, the State Department's Russian expert, seated in the last seats of the grandstand in Section 13.

"Where is Ambassador Menshikov?" Brucan was asked.

"He is down indoctrinating the horses," replied the jovial Rumanian.

"I am just here for the race," he continued. "I have to go back to New York tomorrow to protect outer space. You Americans are afraid of an attack from outer space, and we are afraid of an attack right here on earth. We are willing to leave outer space to God, but you don't seem to trust in God."

Stop-Nixon Campaign

There is a lot more than meets the eye to the Stassen statement from the steps of the White House carefully omitting Vice President Nixon's name as a 1960 presidential possibility.

The statement was deliberately planned, and made after a one-hour talk with Eisenhower. Few people get into see Ike for an hour in the first place. And what most people don't know is that Stassen launched his first "stop-Nixon" campaign for Vice President in 1956 after he cleared it with Ike at Gettysburg. The President never likes to stick his neck out, but gave Stassen permission to stick out his. Furthermore, both Milton Eisenhower, his closest adviser, and Sherman Adams, then his closest assistant, encouraged Stassen.

Most people also don't know that there were some deep-seated differences between the President and Nixon during the recent campaign. After Ike announced he was against making a political issue of foreign affairs, he got a long-distance phone call from Nixon telling that this completely upset his, Nixon's, strategy. He had been giving the Democrats what-for on foreign policy and he demanded the right to continue.

Next day, the President went through the humiliating experience of reversing himself. He agreed that foreign policy could be injected into the campaign for the purpose of "answering" Democratic charges.

Most revealing incident of all took place in Colorado when Nixon rested at Colorado Springs from a sore throat while the President rested at Denver. Though just a few miles apart, Nixon got no phone call from Ike to ask how he was or how the campaign was progressing. Most Presidents would have been on edge to find out whether their party was going to win. But Ike did not communicate once with his Vice President.

All this, plus the emergence of Nelson Rockefeller as the glamor boy of the GOP, is why Harold Stassen's announcement from the steps of the White House constitutes a very real campaign to stop Nixon for 1960.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

It was four in the afternoon. This is the horse hour for Mr. Jim Sullivan. He sat behind his bar with a pencil and some newspapers, handicapping horses who were born winded. Outside the bar sat Mr. Bill Armstrong, a handsome man with nervous fingers. He was watching the skull practice. So was Mr. Chief Dundas, the stout one who broods in moods.

All three have snow on the roof. They talked about the types of customers a poor innocent bartender meets now and then. Sullivan has the most experience. He's been tending bar since the days when the gentlemen drank the stuff out of ladies' slippers. And that's back beyond the starting gate.

Armstrong tends bar at the race tracks and, between figuring the daily double and figuring the customers, he's a furlong this side of a breakdown all the time. Chief Dundas has corners on his head from dispersing drinks to ingrates. When he puts his hat on, the brim wrinkles.

"A good man is worth a C and a f," said Armstrong, "if he knows how to anticipate trouble. Anybody can mix drinks. Sometimes I see a guy coming in with a roving eye and I know we're all in trouble before he gets his first scotch."

"The main idea," said Sullivan, who growls at people he likes, "is to run the bum off the premises before anything starts. Last night I caught a guy walking all the way around the bar to get friendly with a married couple sitting right here. Me, I don't wait. I just walked outside the bar, pointed to his seat, and yelled: 'Get back on third.' "

"Did he go?" said Chief. His lumps come from customers who didn't. Sullivan, a little man with a neon nose, opened his baby blue eyes in surprise. "Did he go?" he said. "He flew."

"If they're bright," said Armstrong, "they'll do like you tell them. I've had some poor specimens in my time. I swear a few of these characters didn't learn to wave by-by until they were 11 years old. That kind wants to out-bluff you."

"The one who is just going off the wagon," said Chief sadly, "is a holy terror. He sits drumming the bar with his fingers and humming and he can't knock the doubles off fast enough. It's like watching somebody light a short fuse."

"The one who gives me the shakes," said Sullivan, "is the broad who comes in and asks for a little sherry. In an hour, she's going to be crying or making passes at me. She sips and looks. And looks and sips. Either she just lost her husband or she's just trying to lose him."

"I don't know," said Armstrong. "You can chill that kind with a look. But the guy who is on the prowl starts casing the joint while waiting for the first drink. He's got rulers in his eyes. He measures every woman at the bar and, if he tells you to take a drink with his compliments to the lady in the feather boa, well, that's his target."

"How do you discourage that kind?" said Chief.

"I tell him that it's none of my business," said Armstrong, "but the lady in question is out on bail for pushing her boyfriend through a window. If that doesn't throw the halter on him, I tell him that she's going with the cop who arrested her."

Sullivan removed a half-inch cigar from his face. "I'm leery of the woman who sits alone and spends a buck on the jukebox playing the same song. Then there's the guy who's looking for trouble. He always arrives with dignity. In an hour, he's walking around the bar tapping somebody on the shoulder and inviting him outside for just looking.

"How about the dopey one," said Chief. "The one who doesn't mean any harm but gets everybody else in trouble."

"I have one of those," said Sullivan. "You know Jake? Well Jake and his wife have been separated a couple of years. It's one of those things. Anyway, for the past two weeks he's been dating her and buying corsages and taking her to dinner. You know.

"These two belong together but she thinks he goes out with other women. Well, they're in here Saturday night and Kitty is sitting around the other side of the bar with her husband—"

"Oh no," said Armstrong.

"Oh yes," said Sullivan. "She came around to Jake about midnight and she said: 'I've seen you in here with some pretty plain looking dames, but this one is the ugliest. Where'd you find this one? " . . .

Bolan claimed that Wechsler had told him that Rauh had told him (Wechsler) all about the Hughes project without disclosing Hughes' name. Wechsler subsequently denied Bolan's account of the incident, corroborating Rauh and claiming that Wechsler reached his own conclusions by deduction and inference, which is, indeed, a feat.

Subsequently Wechsler testified again and it would appear from all the back and forth of this business that Rauh had given Wechsler considerable information in the Hughes case.

I'm refreshing my own memory and the memories of my readers concerning these and other matters only because I am searching for a reason for the persistent attacks on Hoover. Nothing new or startling was brought forth by "The Nation" report; most of it appeared years ago in Max Lowenthal's book. The "New York Post" profile is still in the making. "The Worker" article was a rehash of "The Nation" material. Precisely why, at this time, are these people ganging up on Hoover?

The reason will soon enough appear. Maybe, someone wants to have a look at the FBI files or maybe someone wants Hoover's job, or maybe someone wants to destroy America's foremost police organization.

'Next Come Two Churns For Your Feet'

America Needs Some Sincere Bipartisanship

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Although two weeks have passed since the Congressional elections, no leader of the Democratic Party has seen fit to make a public statement denying that the American people have repudiated the foreign policy of the Eisenhower Administration.

Believing that the American people do not support the Administration, Moscow has been encouraged to start a crisis in Berlin. The Kremlin doubtless is expecting the Democratic Party position to be that Berlin isn't worth fighting for and that, like Quemoy and Matsu, the American notes of protest are just part of a "brink of war" maneuver by Secretary of State Dulles.

The tragic history of past behavior by dictatorship governments unfortunately confirms the fact that they move aggressively when they think the West is disunited and particularly when they think their strongest adversary is weakened by internal factionalism.

Daniel Schorr, formerly correspondent of the Columbia Broadcasting System in Moscow and now stationed in Warsaw, broadcast the other day this comment from the Polish capital:

"The accent is on Europe. The Communists have apparently convinced themselves that the Eisenhower Administration has been too paralyzed by its election defeat to offer adequate resistance to a diplomatic offensive now against West Germany."

Almost immediately after the recent Congressional elections in the United States, in which the Republican Party suffered a severe defeat, Premier Khrushchev told reporters that he interpreted the election to mean that American people "have condemned the Dulles policy of positions of strength which is supported by Mr. Eisenhower." He added:

"People everywhere, including the American people, were opposed to the foreign policies of the Western nations."

While, as usual, putting in a hypocritical disclaimer about not wanting to interfere in the interal affairs of the United States, the Communist leader has revealed nevertheless that the American elections are regarded by him as a victory for the Communist position in world affairs.

More important now is what the Moscow Premier does about it. The fact that a crisis over the status of Berlin has been precipitated is significant of the Kremlin's belligerency. Its policy is evidently based on the idea that now is the time to press an advantage because the United States has a divided government.

It is regrettable that Senator Lyndon Johnson, majority leader, who was invited by Secretary Dulles to speak this week at the United Nations on the subject of control of outer space, has not made an unequivocal statement on down-to-earth questions like Berlin, Formosa and the Middle East, where the Soviets may be doing some "brinkmanship" of their own. It seems unfortunate that America is not presenting, through her opposing political leaders, some semblance of unity in world affairs.

History shows that the danger of war increases when one side thinks the other is either too weak to fight back or is "paralyzed" by an election defeat, as Mr. Schorr phrased it in his broadcast.

There are, of course, the pacifists and appeasers and the well-intentioned but mistaken critics of the Administration who have raised the cry that Quemoy or Matsu are not worth fighting for. Will they say the same of Berlin, which is really a symbol of freedom in central Europe? If America does not want to fall for the Communist trap, which seeks to detach the West German Republic from its position as an effective ally in NATO, then the capital city which means so much sentimentally to the German people must not be forfeited.

The Moscow regime certainly is taking risks not only in trying to force the recognition of the East German government as an independent entity but also in shooting at the planes of the U.S. Air Force over the Baltic and over the Sea of Japan — far from land.

This is a game that could lead to a crisis with grave complications. The Moscow government has been for several months trying to test out American resoluteness. This was tried in the Middle East and resulted in the dispatch of American Marines to Lebanon. Then the Far East was tested, and now it's Central Europe.

When they look at the "cold war" map, the Communists are evidently betting on a retreat by President Eisenhower in the face of criticism from the dominant political party in America. It certainly is a time for sincere bipartisanship in America.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Four potential Republican Presidential candidates are listed by Harold Stassen, former Minnesota governor. Fine—that takes care of the backfield, Harold, now how about naming the line?

In the feud between that soprano and the Met Opera somebody's out of tune, says Grandpappy Jenkins — but he won't say who.

The U. S. again faces the problem of an overproduction of potatoes. Guess it's up to us to order a second helping of French frieds.

In a successful operation, surgeons removed 160 nails from the stomach of Sayd Mohammed, a 40-year-old Persian. Even though his appetite may remain sharp, he'd better try a lighter diet.

Sayd also had swallowed a spoon and a pocket knife. Probably just to get a change of diet.

A vast swarm of locusts is plaguing the Canary islands. There's so many of 'em, we understand, they're driving the natives bugs.

Many Reasons For Overeating; None Good

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Why do people overeat? Some have to, because they are driven to gluttony by nervousness, irritation, or boredom. Others gorge because it is the thing to do. We all know men and women whose main activities of life center around eating and drinking.

They are devotees of cocktail parties, bridge games, delightful dinners, and weekend gatherings. These individuals are likely to put on weight gradually and become obese in time. It is a real chore to lose flesh, because they must avoid the affairs that interest them most.

Many women start gaining weight early in life because they "eat for two" during each pregnancy. They take on 40 instead of the average 15 to 20 pounds with each pregnancy, and by age 30 are struggling to get back their girlhood figure.

It is not easy to do this; statistics show that less than one in three will succeed. It is easier to follow the advice of the obstetrician by keeping the weight gain to not more than 20 pounds above the pre-pregnancy level.

Those who overeat because they are nervous have a problem that is difficult to overcome. Psychic disturbances upset the emotional equilibrium of the body with respect to various functions including the chemical composition of the fluids and tissues. The system attempts in these cases to regain balance by craving more food. But it is difficult to depress a good appetite after it develops in response to a bodily need. A good appetite is a sign of health, regardless of size.

Most of us unconsciously regard food restriction as a threat to health or an arbitrary denial of a pleasure principle. The sooner the emotional cause for overeating is nipped in the bud, the better.

The individual eats initially because he is nervous. As fat accumulates, he feels sorry for himself and eats more. The habit becomes expensive and wasteful because half the food consumed is used to nourish the excess poundage.

MIDDLE-AGED STUTTERER

R. D. writes: What could cause stuttering to appear in middle life? This person was never bothered by speech trouble as a child.

REPLY

Stuttering usually begins between the ages of 2 and 6. When the defect appears later in life, an emotional or a neurological disturbance may be responsible. Examination is in order.

EYEBROW MAKEUP

Mrs. T. writes: I have lost my eyebrows and would like to know if it is safe to have brows tattooed on my face?

REPLY

Yes, but it is easier to use cosmetics. The objection to tattooing is its permanence. It will not change as the years pass by to match your aging complexion and graying hair.

FEVER LOWERING

R. F. writes: If fever is natural in infections, why is aspirin given to lower it?

REPLY

Old-timers thought an elevated temperature killed bacteria but this idea is passe. Fever is detrimental because it is uncomfortable and saps the body's strength. The same might be said of bleeding from a cut. There is no purpose in losing blood just because it is natural for a wound to bleed. The system has a better way of dealing with bacteria through the forces of immunity.

BLOOD CLOTS IN LEG

Mrs. L. C. writes: If a person had a blood clot in the same leg twice, is it safe to go walking, dancing, and swimming?

REPLY

This depends upon whether the clot developed in a vein or an artery or traveled from the heart. In general, individuals with a history like this are better off taking it easy.

SENSE PERCEPTIONS

T. C. writes: Please explain hallucinations.

REPLY.

Hallucinations are sensory experiences. They may be auditory in that the individual hears voices and carries on a conversation with an imaginary companion. Others smell peculiar odors, see things that do not exist, or taste putrid substances. Still others believe bugs are crawling under the skin.

TOMORROW: Enlarged prostate.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Leon Forem tells about a farmer, "a bit over 90," who strolled over to the town graveyard one afternoon with a crony. The crony pointed to one stone and said "There lies Timothy Oberdorf." "How old was he?" asked our farmer. "In his sixties," said the crony. "Well," philosophized the farmer amiably, "a man's got to go some time." He was equally unmoved by the graves of others who had passed on in their 60s and 70s.

All was changed, however, when the crony said, "Why, here's the last resting place of Manfred Jones who died at 92."

The farmer, now visibly shaken, said, "Tarnation! So they've reached that age, too!"

Customer in a Tulsa gifte shoppe announced "I want to send a good luck card to a man who's drilling for oil on my property."

"I've got just the thing for you," said the clerk — and handed him a "get well" card.

Italian Americans Replacing Irish Political Leaders In Many Offices

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — While Carmine De Sapio, the handsome boss of Tammany Hall, was the chief issue defeating the Democrats in New York, another Italian-American, also a Democrat, was scoring a tremendous victory in Ohio. Mike Di Salle was elected Governor of Ohio in a record-breaking sweep.

This focuses attention on the fact that Americans of Italian origin have partly replaced the Irish as a political-governing group in the USA. For years the mayors of big eastern cities were usually Irish. The head of Tammany for years was Irish.

Today the Governor of Massachusetts, Foster Furcolo, is Italian in a state once divided between the Irish and the Yankees. The new Republican Governor of Rhode Island, Christopher Del Sesto, is Italian. The Democratic Senator from Rhode Island, John Pastore, is Italian, recently re-elected. On the other hand, Thomas D'Alesandro, long-time Mayor of Baltimore, was defeated for the Senate.

The Mayor of Detroit, Louis Miriani, is also Italian, while there are 12 Italian-American Congressmen in the House of Representatives. Not all of them come from the big eastern cities. Dante Fascell is elected from Florida. Roland Libonati comes from Chicago. The others are: Hugh Addonizio and Peter Rodino, both of Newark, N. J.; Victor Anfuso, Brooklyn; Silvio Conte, Pittsfield, Mass.; Emilio Daddario, Hartford, Conn.; Dominick Daniels, Jersey City; John Dent, Jeannette, Pa.; Paul Fino, Bronx, N. Y.; Robert Giaimo, North Haven, Conn.; and Alfred Santangelo, New York City.

In Cleveland the other day, this writer met its Mayor, Anthony Celebrezze. Cleveland is one of the best-run cities in the USA, has had a succession of notable mayors dating back to Tom Johnson; Harold Burton, later appointed to the Supreme Court; Frank Lausche, later Governor and Senator; and Tom Burke, later a Senator. Celebrezze, who is giving Cleveland an equally good government, is a Democrat, elected by many Republican votes, just as Mike Di Salle was elected Governor of Ohio with the help of Republicans.

Alongside Mayor Celebrezze, as I talked with him, was another Italian-American mayor, efficient Frank Celeste of nearby Lakewood.

"What do you Italians mean by taking all these jobs away from the Irish?" I asked the mayors of Cleveland and Lakewood.

At The Races

Gossip in the diplomatic corps is that the Russian spectators at the "International" at Laurel, Md., were placed in Section 13 to put a jinx on the Russian horses shipped from Moscow to participate in the big race. If so, the Russians and their satellites took it with a smile.

Said rotund Ambassador Silviu Brucan of Rumania:

"We are on the left, but look at the State Department. They are way over on the extreme left." He pointed to Edward L. Freers, the State Department's Russian expert, seated in the last seats of the grandstand in Section 13.

"Where is Ambassador Menshikov?" Brucan was asked.

"He is down indoctrinating the horses," replied the jovial Rumanian.

"I am just here for the race," he continued. "I have to go back to New York tomorrow to protect outer space. You Americans are afraid of an attack from outer space, and we are afraid of an attack right here on earth. We are willing to leave outer space to God, but you don't seem to trust in God."

Stop-Nixon Campaign

There was a lot more than meets the eye to the Stassen statement from the steps of the White House carefully omitting Vice President Nixon's name as a 1960 presidential possibility.

The statement was deliberately planned, and made after a one-hour talk with Eisenhower. Few people get into see Ike for an hour in the first place. And what most people don't know is that Stassen launched his first "stop-Nixon" campaign for Vice President in 1956 after he cleared it with Ike at Gettysburg. The President never likes to stick his neck out, but gave Stassen permission to stick out his. Furthermore, both Milton Eisenhower, his closest adviser, and Sherman Adams, then his closest assistant, encouraged Stassen.

Most people also don't know that there were some deep-seated differences between the President and Nixon during the recent campaign. After Ike announced he was against making a political issue of foreign affairs, he got a long-distance phone call from Nixon telling that this completely upset his, Nixon's, strategy. He had been giving the Democrats what-for on foreign policy and he demanded the right to continue.

Next day, the President went through the humiliating experience of reversing himself. He agreed that foreign policy could be injected into the campaign for the purpose of "answering" Democratic charges.

Most revealing incident of all took place in Colorado when Nixon rested at Colorado Springs from a sore throat while the President rested at Denver. Though just a few miles apart, Nixon got no phone call from Ike to ask how he was or how the campaign was progressing. Most Presidents would have been on edge to find out whether their party was going to win. But Ike did not communicate once with his Vice President.

All this, plus the emergence of Nelson Rockefeller as the glamor boy of the GOP, is why Harold Stassen's announcement from the steps of the White House constitutes a very real campaign to stop Nixon for 1960.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

It was four in the afternoon. This is the horse hour for Mr. Jim Sullivan. He sat behind his bar with a pencil and some newspapers, handicapping horses who were born winded. Outside the bar sat Mr. Bill Armstrong, a handsome man with nervous fingers. He was watching the skull practice. So was Mr. Chief Dundas, the stout one who broods in moods.

All three have snow on the roof. They talked about the types of customers a poor innocent bartender meets now and then. Sullivan has the most experience. He's been tending bar since the days when the gentlemen drank the stuff out of ladies' slippers. And that's back beyond the starting gate.

Armstrong tends bar at the race tracks and, between figuring the daily double and figuring the customers, he's a furlong this side of a breakdown all the time. Chief Dundas has corners on his head from dispersing drinks to ingrates. When he puts his hat on, the brim wrinkles.

"A good man is worth a C and a F," said Armstrong, "if he knows how to anticipate trouble. Anybody can mix drinks. Sometimes I see a guy coming in with a roving eye and I know we're all in trouble before he gets his first scotch."

"The main idea," said Sullivan, who growls at people he likes, "is to run the bum off the premises before anything starts. Last night I caught a guy walking all the way around the bar to get friendly with a married couple sitting right here. Me, I don't wait. I just walked outside the bar, pointed to his seat, and yelled: 'Get back on third.'"

"Did he go?" said Chief. His lumps come from customers who didn't. Sullivan, a little man with a neon nose, opened his baby blue eyes in surprise. "Did he go?" he said. "He flew."

"If they're bright," said Armstrong, "they'll do like you tell them. I've had some poor specimens in my time. I swear a few of these characters didn't learn to wave by-by until they were 11 years old. That kind wants to out-bluff you."

"The one who is just going off the wagon," said Chief sadly, "is a holy terror. He sits drumming the bar with his fingers and humming and he can't knock the doubles off fast enough. It's like watching somebody light a short fuse."

"The one who gives me the shakes," said Sullivan, "is the broad who comes in and asks for a little sherry. In an hour, she's going to be crying or making passes at me. She sips and looks. And looks and sips. Either she just lost her husband or she's just trying to lose him."

"I don't know," said Armstrong. "You can chill that kind with a look. But the guy who is on the prowl starts casing the joint while waiting for the first drink. He's got rulers in his eyes. He measures every woman at the bar and, if he tells you to take a drink with his compliments to the lady in the feather boa, well, that's his target."

"How do you discourage that kind?" said Chief.

"I tell him that it's none of my business," said Armstrong, "but the lady in question is out on bail for pushing her boyfriend through a window. If that doesn't throw the halter on him, I tell him that she's going with the cop who arrested her."

Sullivan removed a half-inch cigar from his face. "I'm leery of the woman who sits alone and spends a buck on the jukebox playing the same song. Then there's the guy who's looking for trouble. He always arrives with dignity. In an hour, he's walking around the bar tapping somebody on the shoulder and inviting him outside for just looking.

"How about the dopey one," said Chief. "The one who doesn't mean any harm but gets everybody else in trouble."

"I have one of those," said Sullivan. "You know Jake? Well Jake and his wife have been separated a couple of years. It's one of those things. Anyway, for the past two weeks he's been dating her and buying corsages and taking her to dinner. You know, "These two belong together but she thinks he goes out with other women. Well, they're in here Saturday night and Kitty is sitting around the other side of the bar with her husband—"

"Oh no," said Armstrong.

"Oh yes," said Sullivan. "She came around to Jake about midnight and she said: 'I've seen you in here with some pretty plain looking dames, but this one is the ugliest. Where'd you find this one?' . . .

Report Shows Force Is Underpaid

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A National Safety Council official said Thursday West Virginia's State Police force is vastly undermanned and underpaid.

Edward H. Bovich told the Governor's Committee on Traffic Safety that the manpower strength of the force was "one of the most deficient" in the country, and that troopers' monthly pay of $280 was the second lowest among all states.

The committee worked out four "priority needs" of traffic safety for the state for presentation to the next Legislature. Among them was a proposal calling for a $100-a-month salary raise for State Police members and hiring of 100 additional troopers.

Bovich's remarks were contained in a report on the Safety Council's 1956-57 inventory of West Virginia traffic safety activities.

The safety council's inventory is widely used around the country for measuring traffic safety activities. All states and 1,200 American cities take part in it each year to gauge how they are doing in traffic safety in relation to other areas.

Other legislative proposals drawn up by the committee included:

—Establishment of a central file of all accidents investigated by police agencies in the state.

—Provision for driver education in all high schools with the state to reimbursing county boards of education at a rate of at least $25 per pupil enrolled.

—A statute authorizing traffic courts to hear charges and impose penalities upon juveniles under 18 for traffic offenses.

Bovich reported that West Virginia is measuring up to 67 per cent of the recommended standards for traffic safety, but said there were many areas where improvement could be accomplished.

Among other things he recommended that the state adopt procedures, possibly by the State Road Commission, whereby investigation are made at road locations where accidents rates are high.

Bovich said he had discussed such action with the SRC but was told that the commission does not have enough personnel at the present for such ork. Additional personnel will be hired to correct the situation, he said.

US Senator Jennings Randolph Classifies Self As "Jeffersonian Democrat"

By J. RICHARD TOREN
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Jennings Randolph, the super-salesman from Elkins, is back in his element as West Virginia's newest U. S. senator — with just two years to build a record that he hopes will win him re - election in 1960.

Randolph, returning to the state for a flying two-day visit — his first since he took over his Senate office Nov. 6 — acknowledged in an interview that he will be a candidate for a full six-year term.

He has already spent a busy two weeks in Washington, then returned for a hurried trip that included a visit at Morgantown, a dinner at Salem College, conferences with party leaders here and another speech Wednesday night.

The interview started as Randolph stepped from his hotel room shower and continued as he shaved and dressed for a lunch engagement with Democratic National Committeeman Arthur B. Koontz.

"I decided in 1946 when I was defeated for re-election after serving seven terms in the House never again to run for the House" with its brief two-year terms, he said.

Lawmaking His Field

While hoping that some day there might be an opportunity to seek a U. S. Senate seat, he never ran for any other public office "because I feel that what talent I have is in the legislative field."

In the intervening 11 years, until he became a candidate last January for the unexpired two-year term of Sen. M. M. Neely, Randolph was employed as a Capital Airlines executive with headquarters in Washington. His job included administration, top-level public relations and trouble-shooting.

But during that period the genial, smooth - talking ex-lawmaker kept his political fences in West Virginia well mended.

"I was an active member of the Elkins Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Development Association, the Upper Monongahela Valley Association, the West Virginia Press Association, and an active trustee of Salem and Davis & Elkins College," he said.

He also worked with West Virginia counties and cities on air service problems and is credited with re-activating air service to Clarksburg - Fairmont and Morgantown. He filled an average of 20 or more speaking engagements a year in West Virginia and was elected in 1948, 1952 and 1956 as a delegate-at-large to the Democratic national convention.

"The people knew of these things and I didn't have to belabor the point," he said in reference to Republican criticism during the recent campaign that he had not been a full-time resident of the state since 1947.

In the 1956 campaign he ran second behind Neely for delegate at large, receiving 17,000 more votes than third-place Gov. William C. Marland — a fact that he feels "may have foreshadowed" his victory over Marland in the senatorial primary election last Aug. 5. In the general election he won by 120,000 votes over Republican John D. Hoblitzell, who had been appointed last January to replace Neely pending the general election.

Contacts Pay Off

Just as his wide contacts and friendships paid off handsomely in those two elections, he believes contacts of a different sort will pay big returns to the state in the next two years, while allowing him to compile a record on which to run in 1960.

He estimates that 45 of his Senate colleagues in the upcoming 86th Congress will be men who served with him during his previous House tenure from 1933 to 1947.

"I know these men because I've worked with them," he said. "I hope these contacts will make it possible for me to serve more quickly the people of West Virginia."

Randolph said he has already conferred with his friend Lyndon Johnson, the powerful Senate majority leader who served with him in the House years ago, since setting up shop in Washington two days after his election.

Contacts like that could allow him to shorten the long break-in period when new senators are traditionally expected to be seen and not heard, and give him easier entree into what has been called "the world's most exclusive club."

He said that during his first 10 days in Washington — while waiting for Hoblitzell's staff to wind up its business — he operated from a cubbyhole with a phone.

He has since moved into the quarters vacated by Hoblitzell and will be assigned permanent quarters after Congress convenes Jan. 7. He expects to announce his staff appointments within a few days.

"We're already handling a heavy flow of business and correspondence," he said. "Veterans affairs, small business loans, public works projects—the whole gamut."

Does he classify himself as a liberal, conservative or middle-of-the-road Democrat?

"I'm not one to have a label on me. But if a label has to be attached, I would wa it to be 'Jeffersonian Democrat'," he said.

Randolph referred the reporter to a quotation from Thomas Jefferson — "I am certainly not an advocate for frequer and untried changes in laws and constitutions. I think moderate imperfections had better be borne with. But I know also that laws and institutions must go hand in hand with the progress of the human mind. As new discoveries are made, new truths disclosed, and manners and opinions change with the change of circumstances, institutions must advance also, and keep pace with the time."

Randolph and his wife will live in the home they bought in 1938 in the Georgetown section of Washington, while also retaining their home in Elkins. They have two sons, Jennings Jr., 24, now studying at Salem College after serving overseas in the armed forces, and Frank, 20, a sophomore at West Virginia University.

Need Is Cited For More W.Va. State Police

Report Shows Force Is Underpaid

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A National Safety Council official said Thursday West Virginia's State Police force is vastly undermanned and underpaid.

Edward H. Bovich told the Governor's Committee on Traffic Safety that the manpower strength of the force was "one of the most deficient" in the country, and that troopers' monthly pay of $280 was the second lowest among all states.

The committee worked out four "priority needs" of traffic safety for the state for presentation to the next Legislature. Among them was a proposal calling for a $100-a-month salary ra[illegible] for State Police members and hiring of 100 additional troopers.

Bovich's remarks were contained in a report on the Safety Council's 1956-57 inventory of West Virginia traffic safety activities.

The safety council's inventory is widely used around the country for measuring traffic safety activities. All states and 1,200 American cities take part in it each year to gauge how they are doing in traffic safety in relation to other areas.

Other legislative proposals drawn up by the committee included:

—Establishment of a central file of all accidents investigated by police agencies in the state.

—Provision for driver education in all high schools with the state to reimbursing county boards of education at a rate of at least $25 per pupil enrolled.

—A statute authorizing traffic courts to hear charges and impose penalities upon juveniles under 18 for traffic offenses.

Bovich reported that West Virginia is measuring up to 67 per cent of the recommended standards for traffic safety, but said there were many areas where improvement could be accomplished.

Among other things he recommended that the state adopt procedures, possibly by the State Road Commission, whereby investigation are made at road locations where accidents rates are high.

Bovich said he had discussed such action with the SRC but was told that the commission does not have enough personnel at the present for such ork. Additional personnel will be hired to correct the situation, he said.

US Senator Jennings Randolph Classifies Self As "Jeffersonian Democrat"

By J. RICHARD TOREN
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Jennings Randolph, the super-salesman from Elkins, is back in his element as West Virginia's newest U. S. senator — with just two years to build a record that he hopes will win him re - election in 1960.

Randolph, returning to the state for a flying two-day visit — his first since he took over his Senate office Nov. 6 — acknowledged in an interview that he will be a candidate for a full six-year term.

He has already spent a busy two weeks in Washington, then returned for a hurried trip that included a visit at Morgantown, a dinner at Salem College, conferences with party leaders here and another speech Wednesday night.

The interview started as Randolph stepped from his hotel room shower and continued as he shaved and dressed for a lunch engagement with Democratic National Committeeman Arthur B. Koontz.

"I decided in 1946 when I was defeated for re-election after serving seven terms in the House never again to run for the House" with its brief two-year terms, he said.

Lawmaking His Field

While hoping that some day there might be an opportunity to seek a U. S. Senate seat, he never ran for any other public office "because I feel that what talent I have is in the legislative field."

In the intervening 11 years, until he became a candidate last January for the unexpired two-year term of Sen. M. M. Neely, Randolph was employed as a Capital Airlines executive with headquarters in Washington. His job included administration, top-level public relations and trouble-shooting.

But during that period the genial, smooth - talking ex-lawmaker kept his political fences in West Virginia well mended.

"I was an active member of the Elkins Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Development Association, the Upper Monongahela Valley Association, the West Virginia Press Association, and an active trustee of Salem and Davis & Elkins College," he said.

He also worked with West Virginia counties and cities on air service problems and is credited with re-activating air service to Clarksburg - Fairmont and Morgantown. Salad Success Story

Plentiful green beans come alive with flavor when featured in a salad with an herb and spice dressing. Make the dressing with an envelope of salad dressing mix, to which you simply add vinegar, water, and oil as indicated on the envelope or cruet. By tossing green beans, onions and garlic in this mixture, you create flavor excitement that is one of the main reasons for the popularity of salad making today.

Green Bean Salad

1 envelope salad dressing mix
1 pound cooked green beans
½ clove garlic, finely minced
2 tablespoons chopped onion
⅛ teaspoon salt
3 or 4 lettuce leaf cups
2 slices crisp cooked bacon, crumbled

To make the salad dressing, combine salad dressing mix, vinegar, water, and oil as directed on the envelope or cruet. Measure 3 tablespoons.

Chill beans. Combine with garlic, onion, salt, and 3 tablespoons of the salad dressing in a bowl; toss lightly. Pile into lettuce cups. Sprinkle with crumbled bacon. Makes 2-½ cups, or 3 or 4 servings side salad.

Fluffy Strawberry Pie

10-oz. pkg. frozen strawberries, partly thawed
¼ cup water
⅓ cup sugar
¼ teasp. salt
2 eggs, separated
2 teasp. lemon juice
1 pkg. strawberry gelatin
½ cup water
⅔ cup dry milk
9-in. graham cracker or baked pastry crust

In 1½-qt. saucepan mix strawberries, ¼ cup water, sugar, salt, egg yolks and lemon juice. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to full, all-over boil. Take off heat. Stir in gelatin until dissolved. Chill until mixture is very thick, but not set. Put egg whites, ½ cup water and dry milk into 1-qt. bowl. Whip, with electric mixer at high speed or with rotary hand beater, until stiff. Fold whipped mixture into chilled strawberry mixture. Let stand a few min., or just until mixture starts to set. Put into chilled crust. Chill until firm, about 2 hrs., or until ready to serve.

Cake Frosting With A Spanish Flavor

When making one of the new easy cakes with packaged frosting and mix, try this for flavor excitement: to the frosting, add ½ teaspoon of cinnamon, then use Spanish sherry of the oloroso or cream type instead of the water called for. Gives the frosting wonderful new flavor. This is fine evening refreshment, especially if you serve glasses of oloroso sherry along with the cake.

- 2 slices crisp cooked bacon, crumbled

To make the salad dressing, combine salad dressing mix, vinegar, water, and oil as directed on the envelope or cruet. Measure 3 tablespoons.

Chill beans. Combine with garlic, onion, salt, and 3 tablespoons of the salad dressing in a bowl; toss lightly. Pile into lettuce cups. Sprinkle with crumbled bacon. Makes 2-½ cups, or 3 or 4 servings side salad.

Cake Frosting With A Spanish Flavor

When making one of the new easy cakes with packaged frosting and mix, try this for flavor excitement: to the frosting, add ½ teaspoon of cinnamon, then use Spanish sherry of the oloroso or cream type instead of the water called for. Gives the frosting wonderful new flavor. This is fine evening refreshment, especially if you serve glasses of oloroso sherry along with the cake.

2 cans (about 1 lb. each) yams, drained (or 2 lbs. cooked peeled yams)
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 can (13½ oz., about 1⅔ cup) pineapple cubes
¾ cup brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup coconut, flaked or shredded

If large, halve yams lengthwise. Brown, turning as necessary, in the butter or margarine. Place yams in shallow 2-quart casserole with any remaining butter or margarine. Pour pineapple cubes with juice over potatoes. Sprinkle with the sugar and salt. Bake, uncovered, about 35 minutes, in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.). Top with coconut and continue baking 10 minutes or until coconut is nicely browned. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Tangy Canned Pears, Barbecued Spareribs

There's a tang to the air this October . . . and it doesn't all come from falling leaves and frosty mornings! This tang comes from the kitchen, a marvelous aroma composed of suave chili sauce and pungent vinegar, compounded in the juice of mellow canned pears. This ingenious sauce flatters and cajoles the most in flavor from an otherwise ordinary spareribs.

Just before removing from the oven, juicy pear halves are placed around the meat and just heated through. They, too, boast of just a hint of sauce, yet remain the perfect foil for the bright spiciness of the ribs.

This is an October meal—just right for that sunny Indian Summer afternoon when even the leaves fall hesitantly from their comfortable tree. The zesty spareribs are accompanied to the patio by a colorful green salad, a crusty bread, a last ear of roasted corn. It's a memorable meal destined to linger through cold days of winter when that same patio is piled with drifts of snow or darkened by falling rain.

This pear that lends itself so well to seasonings of all types is just about the most versatile fruit of all. For desserts, fruit cups, compotes, salads or entrees, you'll use this fruit of fall, no longer a prisoner of its season. Pears are available all year round in this convenient and inexpensive canned form.

The Bartlett pear is the choice fruit for canning at home or by the many commercial firms supplying an increasing demand for this popular fruit. Since the Pacific Coast grows this variety in abundance, it's no wonder that 95% of all canned pears come from the three Pacific Coast States. Ideal pear growing conditions, a combination of soil and weather, produce fine, large pears destined for your use, throughout the year.

Barbecued Spareribs With Pears

1 No. 2½ can pear halves, drained pear juice
1 cup chili sauce
3 tablespoons vinegar
½ teaspoon instant onion flakes or ½ medium onion, finely chopped
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 pounds spareribs

Drain juice from pear halves. Combine pear juice, chili sauce, vinegar, onion, salt, and pepper. Heat to boiling and pour over pears. Let stand several hours. Drain sauce from pears. Place spareribs in shallow baking pan. Pour about half of barbecue sauce over spareribs and bake in 350 degree oven for 1½ to 2 hours. Baste with remaining barbecue sauce occasionally during baking. About 15 minutes before spareribs are removed from oven, place pears on pan with meat and continue baking to heat pears. Makes 6 servings.

Glamorous Apple Snow Dessert

To make old-fashioned apple snow a party dessert, add a tablespoon or two of an oloroso type Spanish sherry to the mixture of sweetened apple sauce and stiffly-beaten egg whites. Serve piled high in sherbet glasses, sprinkle with toasted slivered almonds.

Marmalade Glazes Chicken

Frozen chicken parts have a new shiny coating made with ginger marmalade. New taste treat, too! To make the recipe: Thaw 2 packages (1-pound size) frozen chicken breasts or thighs as directed on package. Brown chicken in 2 to 4 tablespoons butter or margarine; add ½ cup water, 2 tablespoons ginger marmalade, ½ teaspoon salt, and dash black pepper. Cover and simmer about 45 minutes or until chicken is tender. Turn and baste with sauce frequently . . . to form glaze. (Add a little more water if needed.) Makes 6 to 8 servings.

An annual eclipse of the sun occurs when the moon is more distant than usual.

Prune All-Bran Muffins

1 cup All-Bran
¾ cup milk
1 egg
¼ cup soft shortening
1 cup sifted flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
½ cup chopped cooked prunes

1. Combine All-Bran and milk let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add egg and shortening; beat well.

2. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add to first mixture, together with prunes, stirring only until combined. Fill greased muffin pans ⅔ full.

3. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 30 minutes. Serve immediately. Yield: 10 muffins, 2½ inches in diameter.

Sauce-Up Your Fall Vegetables

As fall makes its bow, and we enter into the cooler month of November, vegetables such as cabbage are economical to use. Why not sauce-up your cabbage this way: Cook 1 small head cabbage, coarsely chopped, in boiling water for 5 minutes; drain. In a 1½-quart casserole, layer cabbage with 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup ending with the soup. Sprinkle top with ¼ cup buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Those hot breakfast muffins will be even tastier if you add chopped canned apple slices to the batter.

Tip To The Hostess

Easiest and most impressive refreshment to offer dinner guests while you attend to last minute preparations is a selection of Spanish sherry, fino sherry for those who like very dry drinks, an amontillado type for those who prefer a nuttier wine. Sherry is so adaptable it can be drunk as it comes from the bottle, on the rocks, as a tall drink with soda, or in a cocktail, mixed with gin or vodka. It's an especially good choice for the single woman who is hostess and cook at the same time, for guests can help themselves from the sherry tray while she slips off to the kitchen. A choice of more than one of the sherries from Spain is a real gourmet touch.

The genealogies of the Chinese have always surpassed those of all other races in age and coverage.

Sherried Chutney

Something wonderful with roasts and spicy dishes is a chutney made with mince meat. To an 18 ounce jar of mince meat add a quarter-cup of dry Spanish sherry, fino or amontillado, and two tablespoons of prepared mustard, and a little horseradish, to taste. Glasses of the wine, chilled or on the rocks, can be served with the main course.

It's not a horseshoe but a work formula that brings success.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Beauty Formula To Success

It's not a matter of luck, when one girl spirals to success in business or social life, while another plunges to failure.

According to statistics, the so-called "lucky" people are, nine times out of ten, just plain hard workers who have cultivated their skills, not only in work but in personality as well. They are people who set up a goal, seek the formula for attaining it, then carry it out.

A poll of 10 top-notch Powers Girls reveals four points which should be included in your formula for success in either business or social life.

1. Physical fitness: Make every effort to keep your general health, weight and carriage in top form at all times. If there is any doubt in your mind about any phase of your physical well-being, act promptly. Take your serious problems to a physician. Keep posted on modern health and beauty routines.

2. Perfect your type: Don't make the mistake of trying to change it. Just be yourself, but make sure that it's your best self. Wear the clothes, make-up and colors that suit you individually. Wear them with immaculate precision. And always wear that famous talisman of good luck, your charm.

3. Learn something new: To keep your interests healthy, and to whet others' interest in you, put those after-work hours to use. If you are in business, prepare yourself for something better.

If the home is your forte, get out into civic or club work. Attend an adult school. Develop some hidden talent. You'll be more attractive to others and happier with yourself.

4. Make life easier for yourself and everybody: Treat your friends like your family — and your family like your friends!

Holiday Bird NeedsProper Roasting

Correct roasting is slow cooking by dry heat on a rack in an open pan. It requires no water, no pan cover and no searing. Always complete roasting in one continuous cooking period.

A shallow open pan allows the heat to circulate around the bird, roasting it evenly. A rack at least ½-inch high raises the bird off the bottom of the pan, keeping it out of the juices. Follow these simple steps.

1. Have bird completely clean, inside and out. Rinse with cold water. Pat dry.
2. Turn on oven at 325 degrees to preheat.
3. Rub cavity of bird lightly with salt.
4. Fill wishbone area (neck) with stuffing.
5. Fasten neck skin to back with skewer.
6. Stuff cavity well, but lightly.
7. Push drumsticks under band of skin at tail; or tie them to tail.
8. Brush skin lightly with fat.
9. Place on rack in roasting pan and put in preheated slow oven.
10. If desired, baste or brush occasionally with pan drippings — especially any dry areas. When turkey is ⅔ done cut trussing cord or bridge of skin at drumsticks. Roast until tender. It is done when meat at thickest part of drumstick feels very soft. This timetable is a guide to the approximate total time.

Time Table—325° (slow) Oven
6 to 8 lbs.	3½ to 4 hours
8 to 12 lbs.	4 to 4½ hours
12 to 16 lbs.	4½ to 5½ hours
16 to 20 lbs.	5½ to 7 hours
20 to 24 lbs.	7 to 8½ hours

A good, hearty salad to serve at this time of year consists of shredded raw carrots stirred into cream-style cottage cheese. Place a scoop of the cheese mixture on crisp lettuce and add a dab of French dressing.

STUFFED PORK CHOPS

Next time you purchase rib pork chops and decide to stuff them, try a mushroom stuffing consisting of bread crumbs, butter or margarine, chopped mushrooms, salt and minced parsley.

Prunes are rich in Vitamin A. This is the vitamin that works mightily to build resistance to colds and other respiratory troubles. Moral: With the cold, sneezy-sniffy weather, serve prunes often to the family.

Meeting Next Week For Scout Leaders

A meeting for Boy Scout leaders will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the conference room of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, according to Dr. Thomas Baucom, district training chairman.

The subject of the meeting will be "Program Planning" and two specilization courses will be given for scoutmasters, assistants, troop committeemen, commissioners and other interested adults.

Saturday Dance Planned By Hi-Y

The Allegany County Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Council will sponsor a dance Saturday from 8 p.m. until 11:30 p.m. at Central YMCA.

The Kings of Swing orchestra will play for the dance and proceeds from the event will be used for the council's world service program. All students of Allegany County high schools are invited to attend the informal dance.

Dairy Specialist Will Visit County

John L. Morris, extension dairy specialist at the University of Maryland, will be the discussion leader at a meeting of the Allegany County 4-H Dairy Calf Club at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the Court House.

Assistant County Agent James B. Arnold reported that Mr. Morris will discuss selection and feeding dairy calves and will answer questions concerning the projects. All club members interested in purchasing calves for the 1959 Cumberland Fair should plan to attend. Parents also are invited.

During the day, Mr. Morris will discuss county dairy cattle problems with County Agent Joseph M. Steger and Mr. Arnold.

Declarer was the victim of a curious roadblock today and had to place his game contract in jeopardy in order to give himself a fighting chance.

It was natural to glide into a three no trump contract, which became complicated only because of the 3-0 break in declarer's long suit.

After North opened with one diamond, and raised to two no trump, it was reasonable for South to carry on to three no trump with eight points and a good six card suit. This appears to be a better gamble than seeking out a high level minor suit game.

West opened the king of hearts and was permitted to hold the trick. Declarer held off until the third round and then he cashed the ace of clubs.

He ran into a snag when West showed out. For while he could bring down all of East's clubs, North's 7 was large enough to block the run of the suit.

South, however, hit upon a device to clear the tracks. It depended on East's holding the king of spades, for if West held that card, declarer was in imminent danger of having the entire heart suit run against him.

But he was willing to run the risk of going set an extra trick in order to increase the chances of fulfilment.

He cashed the ace of spades and returned to his hand with a club, then led the queen of spades. Fortunately for declarer, East won with the king. Had West held that card, an avalanche of hearts would have ensued.

East had no choice but to return a spade, which South won, as he discarded the 7 of clubs from dummy. He now ran off the rest of the club tricks and had the ace of diamonds still left for an overtrick.

Martin, Narleski and Mossi Figure In Five-Player Swap

Tigers Obtain Three Players From Tribe

Cicotte, Alvarez Included In First Off-Season Deal

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers Thursday gave up firebrand Billy Martin and pitcher Al Cicotte for Cleveland's famed relief twins, Don Mossi and Ray Narleski, plus infielder Ossie Alvarez.

This is the first major deal of the off-season. It gives Frank Lane the sparkplug he has been seeking for the Cleveland club and brings to Detroit a mound duo with a reputation as baseball's best one-two relief punch.

The Tiger bullpen has been inadequate for years and the overall staff, despite the 20-game performances of Frank Lary, Jim Bunning and Bill Hoeft in recent seasons, has produced a giant headache for the front office.

Hated To Trade Martin

"We hated to give up Martin," said General Manager John McHale, "but we feel Narleski and Mossi will win more games for us than Billy did."

Martin, acquired last winter in a 13-player deal with the Kansas City Athletics, hit .255 and batted in 42 runs in 131 games. He played shortstop most of the time, a position he had played only occasionally since he broke into the big leagues in 1950 with the New York Yankees.

Lane, the Indians' general manager and baseball's most prolific trader, made it known in mid-season 1958 he was after Martin to play second base, the position the 30-year-old scrapper knows best.

Joined Tribe In 1954

Narleski and Mossi reached the major leagues at the same time. Joining Cleveland in 1954, they sparked the Indians to the American League pennant with one whirlwind relief job after another. Mossi won 6 games and lost only 1 while posting a 1.94 earned run average, and Narleski split 6 decisions and had a 2.22 earned run average.

Over the past few seasons, both have been used as spot starters and last year Narleski expressed his displeasure over being switched from a starting role under Manager Bobby Bragan, back to the bullpen when Joe Gordon relieved the fiery Bragan.

Mossi had a 7-8 record and a 3.88 ERA last season. Narleski won 13 and lost 10.

Cicotte joined the Tigers in 1958. He has been in baseball since 1948 with only modest success and came to Detroit from Washington. He had a 3-4 record at Detroit.

Alvarez is a slick fielder with a solid minor league hitting background. He played 87 games with Washington and was traded to Cleveland a few weeks ago in a straight swap for catcher J.W. Porter.

Jones And Calhoun Fight At Garden

The 10-round match will get the customary network (NBC) radio and television coverage at 10 p.m. (EST).

It has been almost four years since Jones nearly ended Sugar Ray Robinson's comeback by beating him in a Chicago ring. That was the high spot in the Tiger's career but it never earned him a shot at the title. Although he is 30, he still hopes.

Jones has a 45-23-4 record.

The top 10 no longer lists Jones on its roster. Calhoun is No. 10 in the ring rating but is unranked by the National Boxing Assn. Rory was way up there but he was knocked out by Spider Webb and beaten by Joey Giardello and Gene (Ace) Armstrong earlier this year. He has won six of nine in 1958 and shows a career record of 37-5-1.

Jackie Jensen Is Voted MVP In American League

Breaks Four-Year Stranglehold By New York Players

By JOE KELLEY

BOSTON (AP)—Jackie Jensen, Boston's golden boy outfielder who overcame his only weakness — hitting that high inside pitch — Thursday won the American League's most valuable player award for 1958.

Jackie Jensen

Choice of the 31-year-old all-around athlete by the Baseball Writers Assn. of America, broke a New York stranglehold. A Yankee had won it the last four seasons.

Jensen, the league's runs batted in champion with 122, drew 223 points in the voting of a 24-member committee of BBWA, three in each American League city.

Bob Turley, the Yankees' major league pitcher of the year, was second with 191 votes.

Colavito Is Third

Cleveland's Rocky Colavito was third with 181 and Bob Cerv of the Kansas City A's next with 164.

Mickey Mantle, the Yankees' Mr. Swat, won the honor in 1956 and 1957 but didn't receive a single first place vote this year and was fifth with 127 points.

Next came Washington's thumping Roy Sievers with 95, three more than league batting titlist Ted Williams of the Red Sox.

Only one voter failed to name Jensen.

Jensen received nine votes for first, a half dozen for second, three for third, two for fourth place, two for fifth. One writer conceded him eighth place.

Turley, not named on three of the ballots, received seven first place votes.

Jackie Is Elated

Jensen was elated when informed of the honor. Surrounded by his handsome family at their Lake Tahoe, Nev., home, Jensen said:

"Oh, that's wonderful . . . thrills me to death. The MVP is the ultimate to all ball players."

Jackie earned all star selection on the basis of his achievements over the first half of the season when he clouted 24 of his 35 homers and drove in 68 runs while fashioning a .311 batting average.

MacCauley Succeeds Phillips As Coach Of St. Louis Hawks

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ben Kerner—an owner who demands his teams win and look smart in doing it—Thursday fired Andy Phillip as coach of the St. Louis Hawks, the world champions of professional basketball.

Kerner reached down the Hawks bench and gave Phillip's job to veteran player Easy Ed MaCauley, a long-time standout in the National Basketball Assn.

"I took a gamble and lost," Kerner told a hastily called press conference as he explained his reason for letting Phillips go.

The Hawks held a 2½ game lead in the western division of the NBA and were 6-4 in the infant season when Phillip, 36, was fired.

Martin, Narleski and Mossi Figure In Five-Player Swap

Tigers Obtain Three Players From Tribe

Cicotte, Alvarez Included In First Off-Season Deal

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers Thursday gave up firebrand Billy Martin and pitcher Al Cicotte for Cleveland's famed relief twins, Don Mossi and Ray Narleski, plus infielder Ossie Alvarez.

This is the first major deal of the off-season. It gives Frank Lane the sparkplug he has been seeking for the Cleveland club and brings to Detroit a mound duo with a reputation as baseball's best one-two relief punch.

The Tiger bullpen has been inadequate for years and the overall staff, despite the 20-game performances of Frank Lary, Jim Bunning and Bill Hoeft in recent seasons, has produced a giant headache for the front office.

Hated To Trade Martin

"We hated to give up Martin," said General Manager John McHale, "but we feel Narleski and Mossi will win more games for us than Billy did."

Martin, acquired last winter in a 13-player deal with the Kansas City Athletics, hit .255 and batted in 42 runs in 131 games. He played shortstop most of the time, a position he had played only occasionally since he broke into the big leagues in 1950 with the New York Yankees.

Lane, the Indians' general manager and baseball's most prolific trader, made it known in mid-season 1958 he was after Martin to play second base, the position the 30-year-old scrapper knows best.

Narleski and Mossi reached the major leagues at the same time. Joining Cleveland in 1954, they sparked the Indians to the American League pennant with one whirlwind relief job after another. Mossi won 6 games and lost only 1 while posting a 1.94 earned run average, and Narleski split 6 decisions and had a 2.22 earned run average.

Over the past few seasons, both have been used as spot starters and last year Narleski expressed his displeasure over being switched from a starting role under Manager Bobby Bragan, back to the bullpen when Joe Gordon relieved the fiery Bragan.

Mossi had a 7-8 record and a 3.88 ERA last season. Narleski won 13 and lost 10.

Cicotte joined the Tigers in 1958. He has been in baseball since 1948 with only modest success and came to Detroit from Washington. He had a 3-4 record at Detroit.

Alvarez is a slick fielder with a solid minor league hitting background. He played 87 games with Washington and was traded to Cleveland a few weeks ago in a straight swap for catcher J.W. Porter.

MaCauley Succeeds Phillips As Coach Of St. Louis Hawks

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ben Kerner—an owner who demands his teams win and look smart in doing it—Thursday fired Andy Phillip as coach of the St. Louis Hawks, the world champions of professional basketball.

Kerner reached down the Hawks bench and gave Phillip's job to veteran player Easy Ed MaCauley, a long-time standout in the National Basketball Assn.

The Hawks held a 2½ game lead in the western division of the NBA and were 6-4 in the infant season when Phillip, 36, was fired.

Ten Teams Are Represented At Rec Meetings

High School, Men's Loops Meet Monday

Five teams were represented at the initial meetings of the Cumberland Recreation Department's High School Basketball League and Men's Basketball League last night at City Hall.

High School League teams represented were: Tri-State Roofers, Jim Davis; Lovers Leap, defending champions, Carl Petenbrink; Centre Street Methodist, runners-up, Jerry Langham; Police Boys Club, John Daum, and Malin's Chiros, Dr. Harold S. Malin.

Tentative plans for the season were discussed. Entry and forfeit fees of $10 each will be the same as last year. The league will be limited to 14 teams for the coming season. At the next meeting to be held Monday at 7 p. m. at City Hall the deadline dates will be set for fees and rosters and days for practice sessions will be assigned.

Team representatives attending the Men's League session were: Hafer's Furniture Store, defending champs, "Buddy" Meade; Carolan's Tavern, runners-up, Reitmeier Brothers; Bernie's Atlantic Station, Carl Stump; Ballard's Cleaners, Jim Weakley, and The Whiz Kids, Lee Cover.

This league will operate basically the same as last season but the entry fees will be increased to between $25 and $35 to compensate for the trophies and services of the referees. A limit of 14 teams has been set.

Another meeting will be held Monday at 8 p. m., at which time deadlines for fees and rosters will be set and practice sessions assigned.

The tentative opening date for both leagues will be December 8.

Washington Named Scout For Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday signed Kenny Washington, UCLA football great and later a star with the Los Angeles Rams, as part-time scout.

Coaches To Discuss Two-Division League

Aussies Lead Canada Cup Golf Tests

Ireland And U.S. Tied For Second

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Australia leaped to a one-stroke team lead over the United States and Ireland and a little-known Colombian, Miguel Sala, outshot the world's masters Thursday in the Canada Cup golf competition.

Sala, a reed-thin Latin playing in this international tournament for the first time, toured the exacting 7,216-yard Club de Golf course in 69, three under par, for the best 18-hole score of the sunny day.

Leaders Fire 142

But it was two iron artists from far off Australia, Frank Phillips and Kel Nagle, who fired the best combined score, a two-under-par 142, for the first-round lead in the team race for the Canada Cup.

Phillips, bespectacled former Australian champion, was one of three players to shoot 70 for second in the individual standings, while Nagle had a 72.

Ben Hogan, the four-time United States champion, had to sink a six-foot birdie putt on the final green to put the American team in a second-place tie with Ireland. Hogan finished with 72 while his partner Sam Snead, still suffering putting miseries, registered a 71.

Ireland's plump Harry Bradshaw, although missing at least six putts of six feet and under, came in with a sparkling 70 and his slim teammate, Christy O'Connor, shot 73 for their 143.

Spain and the Philippines had 148 and Colombia 149

12,000 Watch Match

Norris Too Sick To Appear Before Boxing Grand Jury

NEW YORK (AP) — James D. Norris, former president of the International Boxing Club, Thursday was ruled too sick to make an appearance before a grand jury investigating corruption in boxing.

Acting on a medical report, Supreme Court Justice Jacob Markowitz quashed a subpoena calling for Norris to testify before the grand jury. He held that for Norris to appear "would endanger his health and life."

MEL OTT

Mel Ott Is Near Death

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Mel Ott, one-time National League slugging star and a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, lay near death Thursday and a hospital spokesman termed his chances very slim.

America's 5-Man Davis Cup Squad Wins In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — America's five - man Davis Cup team, headed by Ham Richardson, swept through the first round of the New South Wales Tennis Championships without the loss of a set Thursday.

Richardson, from Arlington, Va., was rated the sharpest player on the White City courts in the opening round play. The other U.S. winners were Alex Olmedo, Barry MacKay, Chris Crawford and Earl Buchholz.

Joining the advance were leading stars of Australia, Sweden, Italy and the Philippines.

Both Crawford and Buchholz, the youngsters of the team, face plenty of trouble Friday. Chris meets Aussie Roy Emerson, winner of the South Australian title last week. Buchholz takes on Mal Anderson, second-seeded Australian and former U.S. champion.

Aussies Lead Canada Cup Golf Tests

Ireland And U.S. Tied For Second

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Australia leaped to a one-stroke team lead over the United States and Ireland and a little-known Colombian, Miguel Sala, outshot the world's masters Thursday in the Canada Cup golf competition.

Sala, a reed-thin Latin playing in this international tournament for the first time, toured the exacting 7,216-yard Club de Golf course in 69, three under par, for the best 18-hole score of the sunny day.

Leaders Fire 142

But it was two iron artists from far off Australia, Frank Phillips and Kel Nagle, who fired the best combined score, a two-under-par 142, for the first-round lead in the team race for the Canada Cup.

Phillips, bespectacled former Australian champion, was one of three players to shoot 70 for second in the individual standings, while Nagle had a 72.

Ben Hogan, the four-time United States champion, had to sink a six-foot birdie putt on the final green to put the American team in a second-place tie with Ireland. Hogan finished with 72 while his partner Sam Snead, still suffering putting miseries, registered a 71.

The colorful defending champions from Japan, Torakichi Nakamura and Koichi Ono, found the grainy greens of the Club de Golf puzzling and they fell off the pace at 151.

Nakamura three - putted four greens to take a 76, and Ono, playing slightly more consistent golf, turned in a 75.

Ireland's plump Harry Bradshaw, although missing at least six putts of six feet and under, came in with a sparkling 70 and his slim teammate, Christy O'Connor, shot 73 for their 143.

Argentina and England were tied at 144, followed by Scotland, 145, and surprising Brazil with 146.

Spain and the Philippines had 148 and Colombia 149

Norris Too Sick To Appear Before Boxing Grand Jury

NEW YORK (AP) — James D. Norris, former president of the International Boxing Club, Thursday was ruled too sick to make an appearance before a grand jury investigating corruption in boxing.

Acting on a medical report, Supreme Court Justice Jacob Markowitz quashed a subpoena calling for Norris to testify before the grand jury. He held that for Norris to appear "would endanger his health and life."

MEL OTT

Mel Ott Is Near Death

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Mel Ott, one-time National League slugging star and a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, lay near death Thursday and a hospital spokesman termed his chances very slim.

Ott was taken to a hospital here for surgery following an operation at Gulfport, Miss., last week. Ott and his wife were critically injured in an automobile crash near Bay St. Louis, Miss., Friday.

America's 5-Man Davis Cup Squad Wins In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — America's five - man Davis Cup team, headed by Ham Richardson, swept through the first round of the New South Wales Tennis Championships without the loss of a set Thursday.

Richardson, from Arlington, Va., was rated the sharpest player on the White City courts in the opening round play. The other U.S. winners were Alex Olmedo, Barry MacKay, Chris Crawford and Earl Buchholz.

Joining the advance were leading stars of Australia, Sweden, Italy and the Philippines.

The other Yankees eliminated unseeded Australians.

In Memoriam

GRAY—Daniel T. (Dode)—In loving memory of my beloved father, who passed away 1 year ago today, Nov. 21, 1957.
You're not forgotten, father dear,
Nor ever shall you be,
As long as life and memory last,
I shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by his loving son,

In Memoriam

GRAY—Daniel T. (Dode)—In loving memory of my beloved father, who passed away 1 year ago today, Nov. 21, 1957.
You're not forgotten, father dear,
Nor ever shall you be,
As long as life and memory last,
I shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by his loving son,
KENNETH, SR. AND HIS FAMILY.

Market Turns Irregular After Steel Merger Ban

NEW YORK (UPI) -- Stocks turned irregular Thursday reflecting nervousness over the Bethlehem-Youngstown merger ban and anticipation of a federal reserve move to eliminate stock market credit.

Selling near the close brought ticker lateness. The tape ran behind at the opening also with prices firmer. Volume rose to 4,320,000 shares from 4,090,000 on Wednesday.

The federal court order barring the merger brought selling in the stocks of both companies. Youngstown at its low was down more than 4 points, but " closed off 1¾. Bethlehem slipped off a little more than a point on the announcement but closed down ½.

Norfolk & Western was the main casualty in the rails. It fell 4½ after a rise Wednesday of 5 points on reports, later substantiated, that it was discussing a merger with the Virginian Railway. The latter declined 2 points from its high and held a small gain.

There was a lot of action in the "little two" of the motor section. Studebaker - Packard was the most actively traded issue gaining ½ on volume of 138,600 shares. Its movement was attributed to a rise of more than 150,000 shares in its short position during the last 30 days. The bulls started buying the stock and sent the shorts scurrying for cover. A short is one who sells borrowed stock in hopes of buying it cheaper at a later date.

American Motors was the second most actively traded issue, rising 2½ on volume of 116,600 shares. Its strength, which developed late in the session, reflected a statement by its president that earnings will exceed earlier estimates.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures prices closed mostly heavy to easy Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed off ½ to 1½ cents; corn (old) off ⅞ to 1¼ cents; (new) off ⅝ to 1½ cents; oats up ⅛ to off ⅜ cent; rye off 1 to 1⅛ cents; soybeans off ½ to 1¼ cents.

Decline in wheat began early with commission and local selling. There was very little commercial buying. Houses with Eastern connections bought on the decline. Northwest brokers bought December wheat and sold the May.

Scattered liquidation caused a slump in corn. Northwest houses bought new December and March contracts. Receipts, small again for the session, are expected to grow next week.

Oats maintained a relative steadiness during the day. Cash houses absorbed offerings by commission houses of December oats.

Commercial demand in soybeans was slight. Early selling drove prices down. Oil markets were firmer. Meal, however, was easy.

Market Turns Irregular After Steel Merger Ban

NEW YORK (UPI) -- Stocks turned irregular Thursday reflecting nervousness over the Bethlehem-Youngstown merger ban and anticipation of a federal reserve move to eliminate stock market credit.

Selling near the close brought ticker lateness. The tape ran behind at the opening also with prices firmer. Volume rose to 4,320,000 shares from 4,090,000 on Wednesday.

The federal court order barring the merger brought selling in the stocks of both companies. Youngstown at its low was down more than 4 points, but " closed off 1¾. Bethlehem slipped off a little more than a point on the announcement but closed down ½.

Norfolk & Western was the main casualty in the rails. It fell 4½ after a rise Wednesday of 5 points on reports, later substantiated, that it was discussing a merger with the Virginian Railway. The latter declined 2 points from its high and held a small gain.

There was a lot of action in the "little two" of the motor section.

Studebaker - Packard was the most actively traded issue gaining ½ on volume of 138,600 shares. Its movement was attributed to a rise of more than 150,000 shares in its short position during the last 30 days. The bulls started buying the stock and sent the shorts scurrying for cover. A short is one who sells borrowed stock in hopes of buying it cheaper at a later date.

American Motors was the second most actively traded issue, rising 2½ on volume of 116,600 shares. Its strength, which developed late in the session, reflected a statement by its president that earnings will exceed earlier estimates.

Chicago Grains

Wheat closed off ½ to 1½ cents; corn (old) off ⅛ to 1¼ cents; (new) off ⅝ to 1½ cents; oats up ⅛ to off ⅜ cent; rye off 1 to 1⅛ cents; soybeans off ½ to 1¼ cents.

Decline in wheat began early with commission and local selling. There was very little commercial buying. Houses with Eastern connections bought on the decline. Northwest brokers bought December wheat and sold the May.

Scattered liquidation caused a slump in corn. Northwest houses bought new December and March contracts. Receipts, small again for the session, are expected to grow next week.

Oats maintained a relative steadiness during the day. Cash houses absorbed offerings by commission houses of December oats.

Commercial demand in soybeans was slight. Early selling drove prices down. Oil markets were firmer. Meal, however, was easy.

Gunman Robs Schellsburg Bank

Thief Eludes Roadblocks, Air Search

Masked Holdup Man Gets $1,020 In Daylight Theft

An armed bandit, apparently working alone, held up the Schellsburg branch of the First National Bank of Bedford, Pa., yesterday afternoon and escaped with $1,020 in small bills.

The gunman, wearing a kerchief over his face, entered the bank in the small community on U. S. 30 about eight miles west of Bedford about 1:05 p.m. He pointed a small calibre automatic pistol at the bank manager, Chester G. Culp, and demanded he fill a paper shopping bag the bandit was carrying with money.

Authorities said Culp at first refused to comply with the gunman's order, saying "I'll be damned if I will," and pushed the gun away.

Constable In Bank

The only other persons in the bank at the time of the holdup were Clifford Nicodemus, Mann's Choice, Pa., constable, who was forced to stand by helplessly as the holdup progressed, and Mrs. Bernice Whisel, a teller.

Police said Mrs. Whisel, afraid the holdup man would shoot, scooped up some larger denomination bills and handed them to the man, who stuffed the money in a pocket of his plaid hunting jacket and fled.

Witnesses told police the man drove away in a late model maroon Mercury sedan which had been parked beside the bank building on U.S. Route 30.

May Have Doubled Back

The car whisked away in the direction of Cumberland, but police believe the bandit later doubled back and headed either west on Route 30 or north toward New Paris on State Route 96. The car was seen making a left turn shortly after it left the vicinity of the bank, they said.

Witnesses also told police the car had plain pieces of cardboard either covering its license plates or in place of the plates.

The alarm sent Pennsylvania State Police scurrying to the scene where they were joined by members of the Pittsburgh office of the FBI.

Road blocks were quickly set up on all main and secondary roadways leading from Schellsburg as hundreds of policemen responded to the alarm.

Maryland state police, alerted to the holdup, also placed roadblocks on all highways leading into Maryland from the Bedford area. LaVale barracks dispatched all available personnel yesterday to help with the road blocks.

Pennsylvania state troopers from the turnpike division joined with members of all state police sub-stations bordering Bedford County in a tightening net thrown up around Schellsburg in an effor to nab the fleeing gunman.

Private Planes Aid Search

Patrolmen from the Bedford sub-station were patroling secondary roads and two members of the detachment used private planes to scour the countryside in search of the bandit.

Trooper Newton Robbins of the criminal detachment of the Bedford sub-station, a licensed pilot, flew his plane most of the afternoon over the Bedford area looking for the bandit's car. Another trooper flew with a Bedford resident who loaned his small plane to the authorities to join in the search.

Police described the bandit as 28 to 32 years of age, heavy set, weighing approximately 200 pounds, over six feet tall and wearing blue denims, a short plaid jacket and a cap. He was armed with what is believed to be a .25 calibre or a .32 calibre pistol.

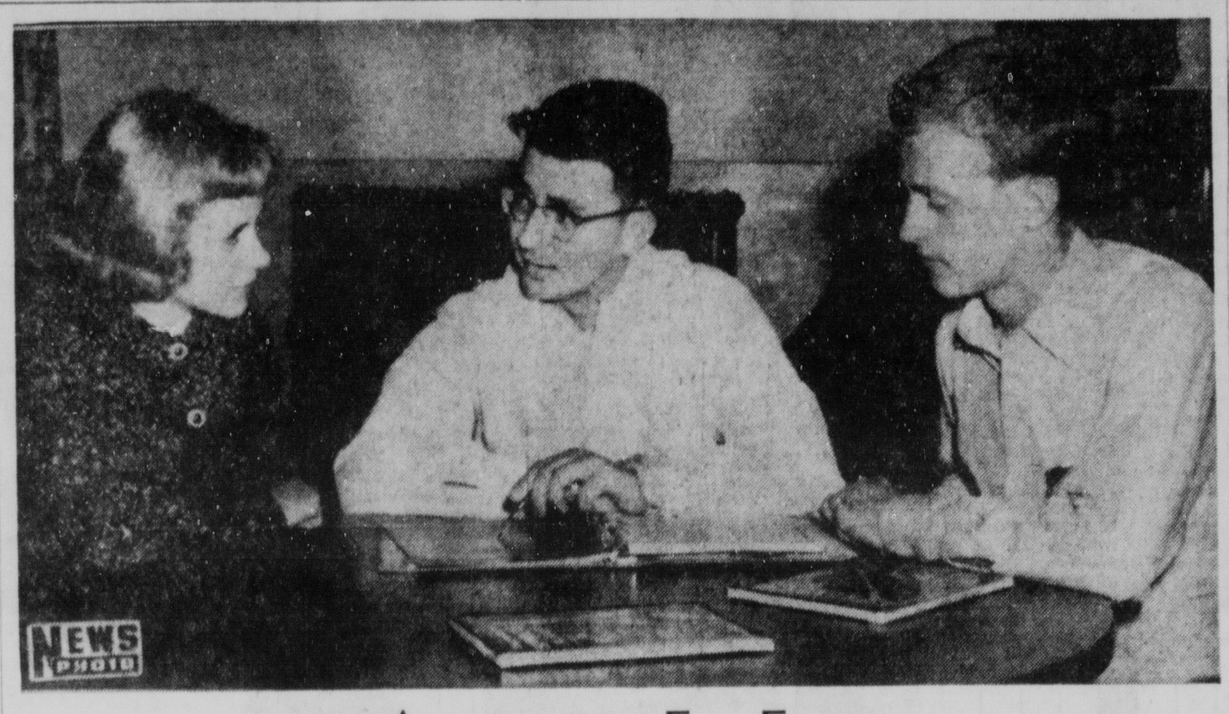
Maurice Cohn, Cumberland, is president and chairman of the board of directors of the Schellsburg bank.



Astronomy For Fun

That's the motto of the newly formed Astronomy Club which met for the first time last night at the Cumberland Free Public Library. In photo, 12-year-old Billie Holbrook, 408 Washington Street, discusses the club's plans with Richard Matlick, temporary chairman, and Rance Nethken, who exhibited moon pictures he has made through a telescope. The group is hoping to attract other astronomy-minded people in the area, whether or not they have any scientific knowledge of astronomy.

Eligible List Is Abolished

Charles R. Scarlett, draftsman for the City Engineering Department, has been notified that the eligible list for the position of Assistant City Engineer has been abolished by the Civil Service Commission.

The list was established as a result of examinations held last October.

Wallace G. Ullery, secretary of the commission, advised Mr. Scarlett that he was a successful applicant for the position and that his name appeared on the eligible list.

The action, Mr. Ullery said, was taken at the request of the city solicitor since additional qualifications, requiring a college education, were established for the position.

Mr. Scarlett, who makes his home at 1706 Holland Street, has served as draftsman for the department for 11 years. Prior to his city's service, he was a draftsman at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and served on the staff of a consulting engineer.

Under rules set up by the commission, an applicant must be a graduate from college with a degree in civil engineering, with two years experience in civil engineering.

The deadline for submitting applications for the position is December 15.

Police Seek Driver Whose Car Hit Boy On Monday

City police said last night they have been requested to find the driver of the automobile which struck an 8-year-old boy Monday night about 9 o'clock at the intersection of Franklin and North Centre streets.

The driver reported to police the lad had run into the side of his car but apparently was unhurt. The boy asked the driver not to tell his parents for fear he (the boy) would be punished, the driver said.

Police told the man to inform the boy's parents of the accident, make certain the boy was unhurt and then make out an accident report. But, last night, they said the report had not been made and the driver apparently has not yet contacted the parents.

Police said the lad, Richard Wolfe of 710 North Mechanic Street, suffered an arm injury in the accident and the parents and authorities are trying to locate the operator of the vehicle.

The boy is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wolfe.

Three Register As Books Open

Registration books of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors were reopened yesterday for the first time since September 22 but there was only a slight stir of activity.

Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar and chief clerk, said that only three new registrants signed up yesterday so they can vote in future county elections. Two others transferred from one election district to another.

When the books closed in September there were 37,623 registered voters. Among them were 21,284 Republicans, 16,071 Democrats, 256 independents, 10 Socialists and two belonging to other parties. The books will remain open until 30 days before the May 1960 primary election.

The next big reduction in the number of registered voters will come in November 1959 when names of those who have failed to vote since November 1954 will be deleted from the books. Those who fail to vote five years are automatically dropped and must register again if they want to vote.

The office of the Board of Election Supervisors in the Court House basement is open from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1 until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays.

Gunshot Victim Remains Critical

Mrs. Helen Ahern, 33, of Barton remained in "critical" condition last night after undergoing surgery for a gunshot wound in the stomach at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser.

Maryland State Police said the wound apparently was self-inflicted. Mrs. Ahern was admitted to the hospital yesterday morning following the shooting which occurred about 7 a.m. at her home.

Tfc. Milton Hart investigated and said the woman was shot with a .22 calibre rifle.

Woman Is Injured In Fall From Truck

Florence Diber, 53, of RFD 2, Flintstone, was reported in "good" condition last night at Memorial Hospital, where she was admitted yesterday after being injured when she fell from a moving truck on Murley's Branch Road.

The woman was a passenger in her son's truck when the door came open and she fell to the highway. She sustained injuries to her hip, leg and right arm.

Bond Forfeited In Assault

A 29-year-old Parkersburg, W. Va., man has forfeited bond on an assault charge placed against him in his alleged attempt to pick up a 14-year-old Hancock girl along U.S. Route 40 last Tuesday.

Magistrate E. P. Fost of Hancock said he signed the warrant charging Albert Joe Couch with assault. Couch was arrested in Flintstone by Trooper Harry Garcia of the LaVale detachment of the Maryland State Police.

The West Virginia man was returned to Hancock, where he posted $26.45 bond for a hearing Wednesday on the charge, but Magistrate Fost said he did not appear for the hearing and forfeited his bond.

Trooper Richard Garvey of Hancock said the incident occurred Tuesday as the girl was walking toward her home to obtain a pair of eyeglasses. She told authorities the man attempted to force her into his car but she resisted him and he drove off.

Police said the girl gave them a description of the car and its driver, including the license number of the vehicle. Couch was arrested later the same day.

Authorities reported the young man's father told them Couch had been under psychiatric care in Parkersburg. They added he apparently returned to his home with his father.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson placed one of the girls under the supervision of the Welfare Board and withheld sentence in the case of the other girl pending an investigation by the Welfare Board.

Youths Held In Theft Case

Two Mineral County youths were given preliminary hearings yesterday before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle and are being held in Mineral County Jail for action of Juvenile Court.

The boys are charged in connection with the breaking and entering of Piedmont High School on September 30 when they reportedly obtained $1 in nickels. One of the youths is a 17-year-old lad who is on parole from the Pruntytown, W. Va., institution for boys. The other boy is 16, Mineral County authorities stated.

Meanwhile, three other boys, 9, 11 and 14, are being sought for the theft of $20 to $25 worth of tools from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company station in Piedmont earlier this month.

They also will be held for Juvenile Court, Prosecuting Attorney David Hott said last night.

Chief of Police Charles Spiker of Piedmont investigated the cases, assisted by Baltimore and Ohio police.

They were William M. Eagan, Brinley C. Hughes and Alvie D. Wilson all of the Engineering Department, and James E. Chappell, Ward N. Coder and Floyd H. Yoder, Cellulose Compounds Manufacturing.

One Obstacle

The picturesque Narrows was just one of the obstacles encountered by Potomac Edison line crews working on the four-and-one-half mile Cumberland-Corriganville line. This 34,500 volt transmission line is being constructed at a cost of nearly $110,000. To cross the Narrows, through which Wills Creek, U. S. Route 40 and two railroads pass, a 1,255 foot span was constructed. District Line Superintendent H. G. Grimes reported that the combination of rugged terrain and rock formations offered the biggest stumbling block to accessibility. The new Narrows span is the second longest placed by PE. The longest is 1,920 feet at another location.

Dr. Mikio Kato Says Decision Is Indefinite

Considering Move To Lonaconing

TANGIER ISLAND, Va. (AP)—This little finger of land in the Chesapeake Bay which spent three years looking for a doctor may have to start all over.

Dr. Mikio Kato, 34-year-old Japanese who traveled 8,000 miles from Kobe, Japan to become Tangier Island's only doctor, may leave after 19 months here.

He reportedly has accepted an offer to practice medicine in Lonaconing, a Western Maryland mountain town about 14 miles southwest of Cumberland. Lonaconing has about 2,200 residents—about twice the population here—but only one doctor.

A citizens committee which invited Dr. Kato to Lonaconing says he definitely has accepted, that he confirmed it Wednesday night by telephone.

'Nothing Definite'

Dr. Kato's wife also confirmed it to a reporter who telephoned the island Thursday morning. But the doctor himself, apparently embarrassed that the news had leaked out before he could tell his island patients, told a newsman later in the day, "nothing is definite."

"It is only a possibility," Dr. Kato said.

Mrs. Kato and the Lonaconing spokesmen said if the doctor is successful in an examination Dec. 10 for his Maryland medical license, he will move to Lonaconing as soon as possible.

With him would go Mrs. Kato, the former Emma Sue Crockett, a member of the oldest family on this island which was settled in 1686 by John Crockett.

Married Nurse

She was the doctor's nurse when he first arrived in April, 1957. Six months later they were married.

Dr. Kato's arrival on this 5-mile strip of land in the middle of the bay in April, 1957, had been the occasion of much rejoicing.

The islanders, who trace their ancestry back to Cornwall in England and who still preserve a trace of Chaucerian English in their speech, were everjoyed.

They had just completed a $26,000 medical center and they had a doctor to run it and administer to their needs. Hundreds of islanders flocked to the shore to meet Dr. Kato.

He agreed to stay for a year. Then, of course, he married his pretty office nurse and the islanders thought he would stay indefinitely.

Built $6,000 Home

The islanders decided to build Dr. and Mrs. Kato a $6,000 home next to the new medical center. A fund drive was started. The house has not been completed.

Last October, the Virginia Council of Health and Medical Care honored Dr. Kato for his "sense of duty . . . and "unselfish devotion to medicine's highest ideals." He couldn't make the presentation in Washington because of a wave of flu on the island and an expectant mother about to deliver.

Any hospital cases on the island have to be taken to the mainland. This is not an easy situation for a doctor to cope with since there is only one ferry trip a day and weather frequently disrupts this.

Dr. Kato visited Lonaconing last August. The town needs a second doctor. So it appears Dr. Kato will exchange his island practice among the quiet fisherfolk for the rugged mountains of Western Maryland and the aches, pains and fevers of 2,200 folks in Lonaconing.

There are three hospitals within 14 miles of Lonaconing.

Nothing has been said about a possible replacement for Dr.Kato on Tangier Island.

LaSalle Students Hear Talk On Communism

The assembly, conducted by Brother Thomas, featured tape recordings of a talk by Richard E. Arens, staff director of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee, presented by Dr. Harold S. Malin, local chiropractor.

Mr. Arens' talk made the point that there are about 17,000 known active Communist Party members in the U.S., and perhaps ten times as many persons under Communist influence. He said the Communist Party in the U.S. is now a greater menace than ever before, despite its efforts to make Americans believe the party is out of business.

Stores will remain open tonight until 9 o'clock to mark the opening of the Christmas shopping season.

It will be the first of nine additional night openings scheduled by stores affiliated with the Retail Merchants Association.

Stores expect the Tri-State area's Christmas stocking to be as bulging as last year but advise early shopping as it may not be possible to reorder some of the choicest items prepared for this year's Christmas gifts.

BridgeHump To Be Cut Down Soon

Traffic May Be Affected Two Days

Mayor J. Edwin Keech was notified yesterday that the hump will be taken off the approach to the Baltimore Street Bridge in about two weeks.

The hump has been shaking the daylights out of unwary drivers since the new span across Wills Creek was opened to traffic on July 3.

Mayor Keech said the Corps of Engineers advised that when the hump is being removed it is possible that the Baltimore Street Bridge will have to be closed for about two days.

He said ample notice will be given so all citizens will be prepared.

The Police Department, he added, will be advised and will, with the cooperation of all concerned, move traffic as well as is possible during the emergency.

The approach, he said, will be on the same grade as existed before the new bridge was built.

The present approach had to be built on a far steeper grade than before due to the presence of the temporary bypass track which carries trains over Wills Creek while the new railroad bridge is being built.

The work will essentially consist of removing the temporary tracks, blacktopping the track area and removing all of the hump which was placed to make the temporary approach to the tracks and give access to Canal Street.

The permanent tracks which lead to the new railroad bridge have been in for some time. They are located on the same grade as they were before the bridge project began.

Circuit Plans Joint Service

A joint Thanksgiving Day service for churches of Union Grove Methodist Charge will be held Thursday at 10 a. m. at Pleasant Grove Methodist Church, according to Rev. Louis L. Emerick, pastor.

Rev. Emerick said the guest speaker will be his brother, Rev. Sam Emerick, who is now working with the Yokefellow movement at Earlham College in Richmond, Ind.

Rev. Sam Emerick recently published a book entitled "Organization of Prayer Groups" and also received an invitation to serve with the General Board of Evangelism of the Methodist Church at Nashville, Tenn.

The pastor of the churches will be in charge of the special prayers and will lead the congregation in a Thanksgiving litany. He also will direct a combined choir that will sing a number arranged by M. J. Crowder called "Thanksgiving Praise." Mrs. Harry Wilson will be organist for the services.

Rev. Emerick said churches of the area are invited to attend the services and hear the talk by the guest speaker.

Cub Pack 1 Meets Tonight

The regular monthly meeting of Cub Scout Pack 1 of Columbia Street School will be held this evening at 7:30 at the school.

Opening ceremonies will be in charge of Den 4, of which Mrs. Charles Herath is den mother. Songs will be sung under the direction of Mrs. Hazel Bloss. Demonstrations will be put on by each den, using the theme "See and Do It."

There will be a talk of interest to the boys on fire prevention and a number of awards are to be presented.

Fort Ashby Seniors Stage Play Tonight

City Projects Moving Fast, Mayor Reports

Heavy Grading Done On South End Route

Work on the Industrial Highway is moving fast, Mayor J. Edwin Keech reported yesterday after a tour of street projects within the City of Cumberland.

With City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, Mayor Keech made an inspection tour of work on the Cumberland Thruway, widening of Knox Street and the streets leading to the Potomac Edison Company's new service center here.

Ground was broken early in August for the South Cumberland highway — first contract to the let on the Cumberland Thruway.

Awarded to the Cumberland Contracting Company, the $799,305 contract calls for the construction of 1.83 miles of highway from about 3/10 of a mile east of the Evitts Creek Bridge on Route 51 to Thomas and West streets here.

Rough grading of the route has been completed from Evitts Creek to Blackiston Avenue. Remaining grading will be light, as the remaining part of the route will follow existing city streets.

Permanent paving has been placed on one short section of Laing Avenue, from Seymour Street to east of South Street.

Good progress is also being made on the widening of Knox Street.

The street is being widened from 15 to 24 feet to provide two 12-foot traffic lanes.

Gunman Robs Schellsburg Bank

Thief Eludes Roadblocks, Air Search

Masked Holdup Man Gets $1,020 In Daylight Theft

An armed bandit, apparently working alone, held up the Schellsburg branch of the First National Bank of Bedford, Pa., yesterday afternoon and escaped with $1,020 in small bills.

The gunman, wearing a kerchief over his face, entered the bank in the small community on U. S. 30 about eight miles west of Bedford about 1:05 p.m. He pointed a small calibre automatic pistol at the bank manager, Chester G. Culp, and demanded he fill a paper shopping bag the bandit was carrying with money.

Authorities said Culp at first refused to comply with the gunman's order, saying "I'll be damned if I will," and pushed the gun away.

Constable In Bank

The only other persons in the bank at the time of the holdup were Clifford Nicodemus, Mann's Choice, Pa., constable, who was forced to stand by helplessly as the holdup progressed, and Mrs. Bernice Whisel, a teller.

Police said Mrs. Whisel, afraid the holdup man would shoot, scooped up some larger denomination bills and handed them to the man, who stuffed the money in a pocket of his plaid hunting jacket and fled.

Witnesses told police the man drove away in a late model maroon Mercury sedan which had been parked beside the bank building on U.S. Route 30.

May Have Doubled Back

The car whisked away in the direction of Cumberland, but police believe the bandit later doubled back and headed either west on Route 30 or north toward New Paris on State Route 96. The car was seen making a left turn shortly after it left the vicinity of the bank, they said.

Witnesses also told police the car had plain pieces of cardboard either covering its license plates or in place of the plates.

Road blocks were quickly set up on all main and secondary roadways leading from Schellsburg as hundreds of policemen responded to the alarm.

Maryland state police, alerted to the holdup, also placed roadblocks on all highways leading into Maryland from the Bedford area. LaVale barracks dispatched all available personnel yesterday to help with the road blocks.

Private Planes Aid Search

Patrolmen from the Bedford sub-station were patroling secondary roads and two members of the detachment used private planes to scour the countryside in search of the bandit.

Trooper Newton Robbins of the criminal detachment of the Bedford sub-station, a licensed pilot, flew his plane most of the afternoon over the Bedford area looking for the bandit's car. Another trooper flew with a Bedford resident who loaned his small plane to the authorities to join in the search.

Police described the bandit as 28 to 32 years of age, heavy set, weighing approximately 200 pounds, over six feet tall and wearing blue denims, a short plaid jacket and a cap. He was armed with what is believed to be a .25 calibre or a .32 calibre pistol.

The authorities added they had been unable to determine exactly how much money the bandit took until a final check was made at the bank later in the day.

Maurice Cohn, Cumberland, is president and chairman of the board of directors of the Schellsburg bank.

Astronomy For Fun

That's the motto of the newly formed Astronomy Club which met for the first time last night at the Cumberland Free Public Library. In photo, 12-year-old Billie Holbrook, 408 Washington Street, discusses the club's plans with Richard Matlick, temporary chairman, and Rance Nethken, who exhibited moon pictures he has made through a telescope. The group is hoping to attract other astronomy-minded people in the area, whether or not they have any scientific knowledge of astronomy.

Eligible List Is Abolished

Charles R. Scarlett, draftsman for the City Engineering Department, has been notified that the eligible list for the position of Assistant City Engineer has been abolished by the Civil Service Commission.

The list was established as a result of examinations held last October.

Wallace G. Ullery, secretary of the commission, advised Mr. Scarlett that he was a successful applicant for the position and that his name appeared on the eligible list.

The action, Mr. Ullery said, was taken at the request of the city solicitor since additional qualifications, requiring a college education, were established for the position.

Mr. Scarlett, who makes his home at 1706 Holland Street, has served as draftsman for the department for 11 years. Prior to his city's service, he was a draftsman at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and served on the staff of a consulting engineer.

Under rules set up by the commission, an applicant must be a graduate from college with a degree in civil engineering, with two years experience in civil engineering.

Police Seek Driver Whose Car Hit Boy On Monday

City police said last night they have been requested to find the driver of the automobile which struck an 8-year-old boy Monday night about 9 o'clock at the intersection of Franklin and North Centre streets.

The driver reported to police the lad had run into the side of his car but apparently was unhurt. The boy asked the driver not to tell his parents for fear he (the boy) would be punished, the driver said.

Police told the man to inform the boy's parents of the accident, make certain the boy was unhurt and then make out an accident report. But, last night, they said the report had not been made and the driver apparently has not yet contacted the parents.

Police said the lad, Richard Wolfe of 710 North Mechanic Street, suffered an arm injury in the accident and the parents and authorities are trying to locate the operator of the vehicle.

The boy is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wolfe.

Three Register As Books Open

Registration books of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors were reopened yesterday for the first time since September 22 but there was only a slight stir of activity.

Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar and chief clerk, said that only three new registrants signed up yesterday so they can vote in future county elections. Two others transferred from one election district to another.

When the books closed in September there were 37,623 registered voters. Among them were 21,284 Republicans, 16,071 Democrats, 256 independents, 10 Socialists and two belonging to other parties. The books will remain open until 30 days before the May 1960 primary election.

The next big reduction in the number of registered voters will come in November 1959 when names of those who have failed to vote since November 1954 will be deleted from the books. Those who fail to vote five years are automatically dropped and must register again if they want to vote.

The office of the Board of Election Supervisors in the Court House basement is open from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1 until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays.

Tfc. Milton Hart investigated and said the woman was shot with a .22 calibre rifle.

Woman Is Injured In Fall From Truck

The woman was a passenger in her son's truck when the door came open and she fell to the highway. She sustained injuries to her hip, leg and right arm.

Bond Forfeited In Assault

A 29-year-old Parkersburg, W. Va., man has forfeited bond on an assault charge placed against him in his alleged attempt to pick up a 14-year-old Hancock girl along U.S. Route 40 last Tuesday.

Magistrate E. P. Fost of Hancock said he signed the warrant charging Albert Joe Couch with assault. Couch was arrested in Flintstone by Trooper Harry Garcia of the LaVale detachment of the Maryland State Police.

The West Virginia man was returned to Hancock, where he posted $26.45 bond for a hearing Wednesday on the charge, but Magistrate Fost said he did not appear for the hearing and forfeited his bond.

Trooper Richard Garvey of Hancock said the incident occurred Tuesday as the girl was walking toward her home to obtain a pair of eyeglasses. She told authorities the man attempted to force her into his car but she resisted him and he drove off.

Police said the girl gave them a description of the car and its driver, including the license number of the vehicle. Couch was arrested later the same day.

Authorities reported the young man's father told them Couch had been under psychiatric care in Parkersburg. They added he apparently returned to his home with his father.

Youths Held In Theft Case

Two Mineral County youths were given preliminary hearings yesterday before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle and are being held in Mineral County Jail for action of Juvenile Court.

One of the youths is a 17-year-old lad who is on parole from the Pruntytown, W. Va., institution for boys. The other boy is 16, Mineral County authorities stated.

Meanwhile, three other boys, 9, 11 and 14, are being sought for the theft of $20 to $25 worth of tools from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company station in Piedmont earlier this month.

They also will be held for Juvenile Court, Prosecuting Attorney David Hott said last night.

One Obstacle

The picturesque Narrows was just one of the obstacles encountered by Potomac Edison line crews working on the four-and-one-half mile Cumberland-Corriganville line. This 34,500 volt transmission line is being constructed at a cost of nearly $110,000. To cross the Narrows, through which Wills Creek, U. S. Route 40 and two railroads pass, a 1,255 foot span was constructed. District Line Superintendent H. G. Grimes reported that the combination of rugged terrain and rock formations offered the biggest stumbling block to accessibility. The new Narrows span is the second longest placed by PE. The longest is 1,920 feet at another location.

Dr. Mikio Kato Says Decision Is Indefinite

Considering Move To Lonaconing

TANGIER ISLAND, Va. (AP)—This little finger of land in the Chesapeake Bay which spent three years looking for a doctor may have to start all over.

Dr. Mikio Kato, 34-year-old Japanese who traveled 8,000 miles from Kobe, Japan to become Tangier Island's only doctor, may leave after 19 months here.

He reportedly has accepted an offer to practice medicine in Lonaconing, a Western Maryland mountain town about 14 miles southwest of Cumberland. Lonaconing has about 2,200 residents—about twice the population here—but only one doctor.

A citizens committee which invited Dr. Kato to Lonaconing says he definitely has accepted, that he confirmed it Wednesday night by telephone.

'Nothing Definite'

Dr. Kato's wife also confirmed it to a reporter who telephoned the island Thursday morning. But the doctor himself, apparently embarrassed that the news had leaked out before he could tell his island patients, told a newsman later in the day, "nothing is definite."

"It is only a possibility," Dr. Kato said.

Mrs. Kato and the Lonaconing spokesmen said if the doctor is successful in an examination Dec. 10 for his Maryland medical license, he will move to Lonaconing as soon as possible.

With him would go Mrs. Kato, the former Emma Sue Crockett, a member of the oldest family on this island which was settled in 1686 by John Crockett.

Married Nurse

She was the doctor's nurse when he first arrived in April, 1957. Six months later they were married.

Dr. Kato's arrival on this 5-mile strip of land in the middle of the bay in April, 1957, had been the occasion of much rejoicing.

The islanders, who trace their ancestry back to Cornwall in England and who still preserve a trace of Chaucerian English in their speech, were everjoyed.

They had just completed a $26,000 medical center and they had a doctor to run it and administer to their needs. Hundreds of islanders flocked to the shore to meet Dr. Kato.

The Japanese doctor was overwhelmed by the friendliness of the islanders who are known mostly for their silent reserve to strangers.

He agreed to stay for a year. Then, of course, he married his pretty office nurse and the islanders thought he would stay indefinitely.

Last April, at the termination of his formal contract, Dr. Kato agreed to stay another year. There was more rejoicing.

Built $6,000 Home

The islanders decided to build Dr. and Mrs. Kato a $6,000 home next to the new medical center. A fund drive was started. The house has not been completed.

Last October, the Virginia Council of Health and Medical Care honored Dr. Kato for his "sense of duty . . . and "unselfish devotion to medicine's highest ideals." He couldn't make the presentation in Washington because of a wave of flu on the island and an expectant mother about to deliver.

Any hospital cases on the island have to be taken to the mainland. This is not an easy situation for a doctor to cope with since there is only one ferry trip a day and weather frequently disrupts this.

Dr. Kato visited Lonaconing last August. The town needs a second doctor. So it appears Dr. Kato will exchange his island practice among the quiet fisherfolk for the rugged mountains of Western Maryland and the aches, pains and fevers of 2,200 folks in Lonaconing.

There are three hospitals within 14 miles of Lonaconing.

Nothing has been said about a possible replacement for Dr. Kato on Tangier Island.

LaSalle Students Hear Talk On Communism

The assembly, conducted by Brother Thomas, featured tape recordings of a talk by Richard E. Arens, staff director of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee, presented by Dr. Harold S. Malin, local chiropractor.

Mr. Arens' talk made the point that there are about 17,000 known active Communist Party members in the U.S., and perhaps ten times as many persons under Communist influence. He said the Communist Party in the U.S. is now a greater menace than ever before, despite its efforts to make Americans believe the party is out of business.

BridgeHump To Be Cut Down Soon

Traffic May Be Affected Two Days

Mayor J. Edwin Keech was notified yesterday that the hump will be taken off the approach to the Baltimore Street Bridge in about two weeks.

The hump has been shaking the daylights out of unwary drivers since the new span across Wills Creek was opened to traffic on July 3.

Mayor Keech said the Corps of Engineers advised that when the hump is being removed it is possible that the Baltimore Street Bridge will have to be closed for about two days.

He said ample notice will be given so all citizens will be prepared.

The Police Department, he added, will be advised and will, with the cooperation of all concerned, move traffic as well as is possible during the emergency.

The approach, he said, will be on the same grade as existed before the new bridge was built.

The present approach had to be built on a far steeper grade than before due to the presence of the temporary bypass track which carries trains over Wills Creek while the new railroad bridge is being built.

The work will essentially consist of removing the temporary tracks, blacktopping the track area and removing all of the hump which was placed to make the temporary approach to the tracks and give access to Canal Street.

The permanent tracks which lead to the new railroad bridge have been in for some time. They are located on the same grade as they were before the bridge project began.

The pastor of the churches will be in charge of the special prayers and will lead the congregation in a Thanksgiving litany. He also will direct a combined choir that will sing a number arranged by M. J. Crowder called "Thanksgiving Praise." Mrs. Harry Wilson will be organist for the services.

Rev. Emerick said churches of the area are invited to attend the services and hear the talk by the guest speaker.

City Projects Moving Fast, Mayor Reports

Heavy Grading Done On South End Route

Work on the Industrial Highway is moving fast, Mayor J. Edwin Keech reported yesterday after a tour of street projects within the City of Cumberland.

With City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, Mayor Keech made an inspection tour of work on the Cumberland Thruway, widening of Knox Street and the streets leading to the Potomac Edison Company's new service center here.

Awarded to the Cumberland Contracting Company, the $799,305 contract calls for the construction of 1.83 miles of highway from about 3/10 of a mile east of the Evitts Creek Bridge on Route 51 to Thomas and West streets here.

Rough grading of the route has been completed from Evitts Creek to Blackiston Avenue. Remaining grading will be light, as the remaining part of the route will follow existing city streets.

Permanent paving has been placed on one short section of Laing Avenue, from Seymour Street to east of South Street.

Good progress is also being made on the widening of Knox Street.

The street is being widened from 15 to 24 feet to provide two 12-foot traffic lanes.

Fourth Street and Somerville Avenue work is nearing completion. The areas have been graded, the stone base is in and the job is about ready for surface treatment.
